ABOUT

Long before its reputation as a glamorous ski town for the world's jet-set, Aspen's origins trace back to the Victorian era. The town's remote location is deep in frontier country, nearly 8,000 feet in altitude and nestled between the Rockies' Sawatch and Elk mountain ranges. Originally a silver camp, this former mining outpost was named after the abundant Aspen trees surrounding it. Synonymous with savage beauty, immersive mountain views, and virgin forests, its remote location inspired America's counterculture. John Denver and Hunter S. Thompson are among the town's former residents. Hedonism is baked into the DNA of this charming mountain town.

Four mountains dominate the terrain of the glamorous Snowmass ski resort. The town's exhaustive winter recreation options, from cross country skiing to hot air ballooning, are the perfect counterpoint to a blossoming culinary, and apres-ski dining scene. Aspen has become one of the leading luxury mountain resort towns, its ethereal magnetic energy dazzling the world's elite for more than three decades. Today, the name alone carries the same caché as Malibu, the Hamptons or Ibiza as a premier getaway destination. Summer is known to offer as much adrenaline-pumping excitement as winter. Everything from rafting, hiking, biking, fishing, golf, and horseback riding is available for your pleasure, while Aspen's extensive cultural identity keeps things fresh and exciting year round. Guests come for the natural beauty and stay for the town's charms, a laid-back ambiance, and thriving arts and wellness scenes.

NEIGHBORHOODS

From the "Rodeo Drive" upscale shopping of the downtown core, to the charming Victorian-era homes of the West End, Aspen's neighborhoods abound with a distinct personality. Victorian throwback architecture in the historic downtown offers a glimpse into the Elk Mountains' storied mining-boom era. Equally embraced by the majestic Rockies, each area speaks to a different take on natural beauty, the divine surroundings inspiring some of the country's most exorbitant villas and residences. With a mix of updated Victorian mining cabins in Aspen's eclectic West End, the city's past merges into its future. Outside downtown, in greater Pitkin County, larger custom homes loom amid the wilderness on greater parcels of land offering expansive mountain views. Cattle and hay ranches neighbor "gentleman" and lifestyle ranches within a short and scenic drive of this former frontier town's historic core. Aspen's neighborhoods strive to surpass a new type of frontier, – that of luxury residential living.

ASPEN HIGHLANDS

Aspen Highlands is actually a range of mountains. The Highlands has some of Colorado's best steep, big-mountain skiing in the Highland Bowl, Olympic Bowl and Steeplechase. Visitors love the sense of discovery at every turn: uncrowded cruisers, long and challenging steepes, and untracked sections in the bowls. The Highlands isn't just for expert skiers. Check out the mid-mountain beginner and intermediate terrain and the lower mountain steepes.

DOWNTOWN ASPEN

The downtown area of Aspen is full of high-end shops like Gucci and Prada. It's also replete with restaurants, art galleries, quaint cafes all fronting beautiful red and black brick sidewalks. Spend a lovely afternoon shopping for the finer things in life. It's also a great place to hike up the Smuggler Mountain Mine Trail. With all this going for it, the downtown area is the ideal place to lay down roots while in Aspen.

EAST END

Aspen's East End neighborhood is a smorgasbord of new huge homes, scattered housing projects for locals, and older condos. The views of Aspen Mountain from the East End are impeccable and Snyder Park, in the heart of the neighborhood, complete with waterfalls and a tiny jungle gym, is a veritable paradise for kids and picnickers. If you enjoy riding a bike, downtown is just a quick spin away.

RED MOUNTAIN

Red Mountain is an island of mansions perched on a hill above Aspen. Red Mountain Road winds up the mountain, with roads leading off the main drag to gated communities of palatial estates with jaw-dropping views of the area. Low-end homes on Red Mountain will fetch in the neighborhood of $7-8 million, while high-end homes can command more than $20 million.

SNOWMASS

With air as clear as fine crystal, perfect temperatures and incomparable beauty, it's no wonder people keep returning to Snowmass. It's one of those mountain towns that not only heartily receives visitors in the winter months, but also in summer; especially if you're seeking rugged-but-luxe experiences like hiking, mountain biking, fly fishing, horseback riding and water rafting.

STARWOOD

Starwood is one of the only private home developments in Aspen offering 24-hour gated security. Spread out across a high mesa just less than three miles northwest of Aspen, Starwood encompasses 960 acres of some of the most stunning Colorado ranchland ever to be bought, subdivided, and sold. Starwood residents have run the gamut from actors to musicians to athletes to media moguls, best-selling authors, film producers and highly successful business people. Today, the mix also includes second homeowners, retirees, a few long-time locals, young families, newcomers to the valley, and even some returnees who grew up in Aspen but settled elsewhere after college.

WEST END

This area of Aspen is full of beauty and charm. Victorian homes sit on perfectly manicured lawns. At one time it was alive with kids, parents mowing lawns, cocktail parties and picnics. Today, most of the homes are owned by those who live there only a few weeks a year. The West End is also home to the Aspen Institute and the Aspen Music Festival and School. The institute holds a world-renowned Ideas Fest every July, attracting a plethora of dignitaries and royalty, and the music festival is a nine-week classical program each summer attracting music lovers of all ages.

THE MOUNTAINS

Synonymous with skiing, Aspen offers the best resorts and courses on the continent. With four unique mountains and ski resorts within minutes of downtown – Aspen Mountain, Aspen Highlands, Buttermilk, and Snowmass – few places in the world are as blessed as Aspen for hitting the slopes. Between these four offerings, everyone from the beginner to the advanced snow rider will be pleased. Featuring high-speed chairlifts, unparalleled on-mountain dining and amenities with awe-inspiring views, you'll be assured of an outstanding alpine experience.

ASPEN MOUNTAIN

Aspen Mountain, formerly known as Ajax, is a local favorite. Its exceptional 673 acres of terrain is a delight for intermediate and expert skiers. No friend of the beginner, the notoriously difficult runs of Aspen mountain were the site of the world's most extended ski lift in 1947. The iconic Silver Queen gondola services the mountain bringing skiers directly from downtown to the slopes. Elevated at 11,212 feet, awe-inspiring views of the town and the Elk mountains abound from the summit.

SNOWMASS

The largest of the four mountains, Snowmass also offers the longest top-to-bottom run in the U.S. spanning a whopping 5.3 miles of terrain. Eighty-four runs are featured on more than 3,000 skiable acres. Defined by a family-friendly ambiance, Snowmass features everything from groomed cruiser runs to extreme terrain in generous quantities. Snowmass Village provides world-class amenities, dining, and lodging and is only 12 miles from Aspen.

BUTTERMILK

Known as the beginner's paradise, Buttermilk is the go-to for novices to intermediate skiers and snowboarders. This reputation has made Buttermilk compete with Snowmass despite occupying a mere 420 acres of skiable terrain. Popularized by ESPN's Winter X games, this mountain hosts some of the best terrain park features in the country, from the beginner Panda Pipe to the notorious X Games Superpipe. The Cliffhouse restaurant on the summit is a delectable feature of this peak.

Fifty years ago, it would be unthinkable that Aspen would become a global culinary hub. Yet today, its boxy boomtown facades and Victorian-era homes reveal some of the country's most reputable dining establishments. Acting as a lightning rod for the nation's most celebrated chefs, Aspen has become an unlikely incubator of the culinary arts; look no further than the annual Food and Wine Classic held every September! Creative fervor overshadows geographic limitations, with the town famous for world-class seafood, Mediterranean, and Asian fusion restaurants. Motivated by the appetites of some of the most distinguished globetrotting guests and the curiosity of locals, more than 80 restaurants operate in the downtown core alone. Aspen is just as much of a culinary capital as it is a ski town.

CLARK'S OYSTER BAR | SEAFOOD

Clark's Aspen is the second location of McGuire Moorman's popular neighborhood oyster bar set in the historic and beloved former Little Annie's location. The Clark's team has worked to uphold much of the charm of the previous establishment including fully restoring its oak bar. Clark's also features a bustling open kitchen and alpine version of its dock-side aesthetic.

CHEFS CLUB ASPEN | INTERNATIONAL

Chefs Club at The St. Regis Aspen Resort is a beautifully-appointed space dominated by an open kitchen and an air of winter-wonderland chic. This restaurant group features some of the world's best chefs in four iconic locations. Chefs spend between three and six months at each restaurant, completely taking over the space and menu. Chefs Club is a culinary infrastructure provider offering chefs the opportunity to operate their own restaurant without any of the usual obstacles, so menus are continually changing.

ELEMENT 47 | CONTEMPORARY

Element 47 is Aspen's finest spot to wine, dine and unwind. Tucked inside The Little Nell, Element 47 serves Colorado contemporary cuisine emphasizing local Wagyu beef, house-made pastas and seasonal produce. The name Element 47 pays tribute to silver, the precious metal that first put Aspen on the map.

FRENCH ALPINE BISTRO | INTERNATIONAL

The romantic ambiance of French Alpine Bistro has put the restaurant into the top five best romantic restaurants in the U.S. as voted by the Food Network. Family heirlooms adorn the walls, while soft sheepskins cover the comfy chairs. A heated patio and a street-level lounge invite guests to relax with a glass of wine while taking in the spectacular mountain views. Signature dishes include their version of steak tartare and terrine de foie gras.

MATSUHISA | FUSION

Chef Nobu Matsuhisa's eponymous restaurant legacy is a crowning achievement of Aspen's culinary scene, featuring a striking blend of traditional Japanese and Peruvian dishes. Offering a one-of-a-kind fusion dining experience, Matsuhisa's Victorian-era home exterior reveals a sophisticated contemporary ambiance with bamboo wrapped ceilings and an intimate sushi bar spanning half the length of the room. Daring and constantly surprising, Chef Nobu's creations are always alluring and delicious.

STEAK HOUSE NO.316 | AMERICAN

Steakhouse No.316 is the work of acclaimed Aspen restaurateurs Craig and Samantha Cordts-Pearce, credited with introducing the region to the great New York steakhouse. Boasting the nation's finest cuts from bone-in filet, cowboy ribeye, and porterhouse, Steakhouse No.316 is far more than a carnivore's paradise. You can also enjoy excellent seafood and vegetarian dishes in a classic elegant setting.

WILD FIG | MEDITERRANEAN

The Wild fig is an Aspen institution presenting a dazzling spectrum of Mediterranean dishes with influences from Spain, France, Italy, and Greece. Standing as the town's only European-style Brasserie, delectable seaside dishes dazzle in authenticity. The interiors are inspired by Parisian metro tiles complementing burgundy red banquettes and a marble top bar, giving the Wild Fig an irresistible charm that will have you returning.

Aspen's shopping reputation far overshadows its small size, with this frontier town home to some of the world's leading luxury brands. The sight of high-end shops such as Gucci, Dior, and Prada alongside Aspen's quaint small town red-bricked facades is genuinely fantastic. Far more than a retail boardwalk for the super-wealthy, Aspen's downtown core abounds with a devil-may-care wildness courtesy of its countercultural past. This distinct wild west spirit isn't forgotten and is reflected in the high streets' garments, jewelry, and housewares selections. Window shopping is at its most scenic in Aspen. Frost-encrusted window displays seem more enticing, and fur-coated mannequins seem more elegant with storefronts softened by dunes of powdered snow.

THE ARTS

THE ARTS

In the case of Aspen, natural splendor begot a ski resort, and a ski resort begot a cultural capital. Fundamental in providing the Aspen Idea, Industrialist Walter Paepcke foresaw a vision of Aspen becoming a bastion of arts and culture in North America. Today haute cuisine, art galleries, cultural institutions, and music schools provide the lifeblood of a small city acting well beyond its size as a transnational hub of expression. Winter is reserved for the slopes, while milder weather beckons a full itinerary of festivals, workshops, and conferences often hosting the world's brightest minds.

ASPEN ART MUSEUM

The Aspen Art Museum (AAM) was founded in 1979. It's a non-collecting museum and presents the newest offerings in international contemporary art. AAM's mission is to offer timely exhibitions, education, public programs, and immersive activities to engage audiences in thought-provoking experiences of art, culture and society. AAM has a café for you to grab a bite and a beverage after pondering all those works of art.

ASPEN MUSIC FESTIVAL

The Aspen Music Festival and School is regarded as one of the top classical music festivals in the U.S., noted for its concert programming and its musical training of primarily young adult music students. The eight-week summer season includes classical music events, solo and chamber music performances, fully-staged opera productions, master classes, lectures, and children's programming.

BALDWIN GALLERY

The Baldwin Gallery has been touted as one of the finest galleries in Aspen and is on par with the most esteemed galleries and museums in major cities such as New York, Los Angeles and San Francisco and is also very well-respected in international art circles. Located in downtown Aspen, the gallery represents artists like Will Cotton, Eric Fischl, Robert Mapplethorpe, Marilyn Minter, Tom Sachs, and James Turrell. It is a favorite spot for skiers, socialites, and art aficionados alike.

MINING AND RANCHING MUSEUM

Before Aspen became well-known for its skiing, people flocked to the mountains here to mine silver. Before it was filled with trendy shops, luxury hotels and expensive homes, the Roaring Fork Valley was riddled with ranches. Both mines and ranches have all but disappeared, but visitors can get a glimpse of those eras at the Holden/Marolt Mining and Ranching Museum.

MARIANNE BOESKY GALLERY

The Marianne Boesky Gallery (Marianne Boesky is a well-known art dealer) represents and supports the work of contemporary international artists of all media. Among those artists whose early careers were supported by the gallery are Lisa Yuskavage, Sarah Sze, Takashi Murakami, Yoshitomo Nara, and Barnaby Furnas. With a gallery already established in New York, a 3,000-square-foot space in Aspen was opened in 2017. You're sure to find just the right piece to add to your collection.

Among the shortlist is the Aspen Municipal and Snowmass Club Golf course designed by renowned landscape architect Jim Engh. The Aspen Golf Club provides a challenging 18-hole course set in the heart of the Rockies and Roaring Fork Valley. The beautiful River Valley Ranch course is defined by elevation changes, challenging bunkers and firm and fast greens well worth the 30-mile drive to Carbondale.

HIKING MAROON BELLS

Heaven must look this way since there are no words to accurately describe the beauty of this area. The towering snow-tipped mountains of Maroon Peak and North Maroon Peak are reflected in the crystal clear lake anchored by a symphony of color that changes with the seasons. Hiking is nothing less than amazing here. Dogs are welcome on the trails, but must be kept on leash. There are three trails to choose from, each with a varying degree of difficulty.

HORSEBACK RIDING

May the timeless syncopation of horses' hoofs accompany an exhilarating adventure through the backcountry of Aspen and Maroon Bells. Riders can immerse themselves in the untouched glory of the Colorado countryside as it was initially discovered, on saddleback. Imagine majestic mountains, clear meandering streams, and wildflower fields. There is no understating the therapeutic nature of horseback riding. Pair the ride with a sumptuous dinner, and guests have all the ingredients for an unforgettable experience.

HOT AIR BALLOON RIDE

There is no more graceful way to touch the sky than by hot-air balloon. Embark on an extraordinary journey, marveling at the scale and scope of the Aspen Snowmass and Elk Mountain Range. Offering a dazzling birds-eye view in any season, prepare to be humbled by the natural majesty of the region, whether the valley be lush and green, frosty and white, or orange and gold. Round off your airborne adventure with a lovely brunch.

PADDLEBOARDING ROARING FORK

The Stillwater, North Star Nature Preserve and Lazy River sections of the Roaring Fork River through the preserve is the perfect gentle paddling destination. Groups of locals trade off float and shuttle laps between the school and the bridge downriver, while savvy visitors rent stand-up paddleboards (SUPs) from local outfitters that provide a guide and ride for a stress-free experience. Pack a picnic in a dry bag to enjoy at the beach, and be on the lookout for great blue herons, mule deer, and muskrats along the way.

PARAGLIDING

Take a tandem paragliding flight to see Aspen and Snowmass like never before! This is a wonderful on-the-edge adventure that is a mix of thrill and tranquility. This is the ideal quest for anyone who wants to leave the cell phone behind and forget technology altogether for a little while. It's disconnecting to re-connect. There is no experience necessary to savor the freedom of free flight when flying with a certified tandem pilot.

RAFTING AND KAYAKING

Navigating some of Aspen's pristine winding rivers by raft is absolutely thrilling. The region offers excellent white-water experiences for both first-timers and seasoned rafters. Under the guidance of professionals, ride the rapids of the Roaring Fork and Colorado rivers. Experience the adventure and discovery that defines this beautiful region.

RIDE THE SILVER QUEEN

The highest point of Aspen Mountain is 11,212 feet. A trip to the top riding the Silver Queen Gondola provides spectacular views. It's a must for anyone wanting a new perspective of the landscape. In winter, skiers ride the gondola to the top to access more than 75 trails. You don't have to be on skis for this experience. Enjoy a casual lunch at the top of the mountain or find a friend with a Mountain Club membership for a chic brunch on Sundays.
