ABOUT

The bewitching Bahamas comprises more than 700 pristine subtropical islands and 2,400 cays, most of which are uninhabited and surrounded by spectacular sea life and bottomless ocean trenches. From Nassau, with its funkiness, to the boundless mangroves of Andros, there is a plethora of beaches, forests, reefs, and historic towns for you to discover.

Two of the most popular white-sand spots among travelers are spectacular Cable and Cabbage beaches. Also, you can head over to the Big Major Cay Island to find a beach that's home to dozens of adorable, friendly pigs that just love to welcome tourists by going for a swim with them! The best place to see some of the islands' wildlife is Inagua National Park, where the world's largest flock of flamingos makes its home! You can also go fishing on the island of Bimini, hike at the Lucayan Caverns in Grand Bahama or go snorkeling or diving to explore one of the islands' many spectacular coral reefs.

You can try your luck at the Atlantis Casino, dine at celebrity chef restaurants, and shop in quaint boutiques. There is so much to see and do on this Bahamian island.

HARBOUR ISLAND

The rich history of Harbour Island dates back as far as the 1700s. As you explore the island, you'll be absorbed by its colorful architecture and beautiful makeup, making it one of the main reasons the affluent flock to the island regularly. Warm, clear ocean waters provide excellent diving, fishing, and boating, while outlying reefs provide safe swimming and snorkeling. There are boat and equipment rentals, along with marinas to charter boats for fishing and diving along with renting the gear. How about a horseback ride on the gorgeous pink sand beach?

ELEUTHERA ISLAND

You will experience authentic island culture on Eleuthera Island. Generally, it is less occupied by tourists, and islanders regard it as family-friendly for its peaceful, laid-back setting. It is also one of the safest islands in the Bahamas, with neighbors watching out for each other. It is easy to get to by boat. For a truly relaxing Bahamas getaway, Eleuthera Island is an ideal choice.

BEACHES

If your vacation dream includes sand between your toes, clear waters in which to snorkel, dive or swim among colorful fish and playful sea turtles, the beaches of the Bahamas are waiting for you. Whatever you're looking for in an ideal beach vacation – even if it's staring at the ocean until every bit of stress leaves your being – Bahamas' beaches are waiting to cradle your cares away. The beaches here rival any you can find anywhere in the Caribbean. You can be close to the crowds or closer to nature. It's your choice. Have a look at these for starters.

BEACHES

1. Cabbage Beach
2. Jaws Beach
3. Spanish Wells
4. Pink Sands Beach
5. The Lighthouse Beach
6. Coco Plum Beach
7. Tropic of Cancer

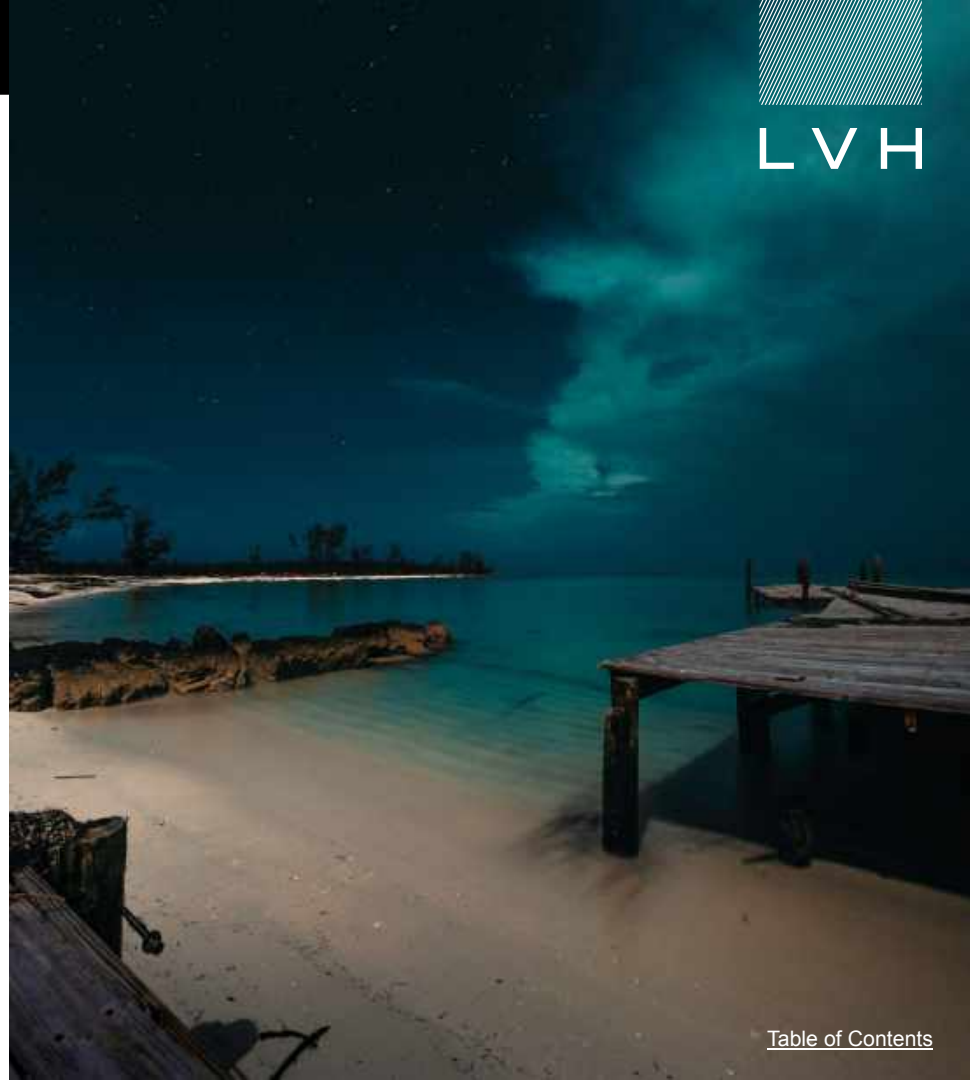

CABBAGE BEACH

If you don't mind sharing your beach space with guests of some major resorts in Nassau, Cabbage Beach might be your tanning spot. It has been consistently included as one of the top 10 beaches globally with nearly two miles of soft white sand dotted with swaying coconut and palm trees, making it picture-perfect. Just a hint: If you want to be free of the crowd, walk a little further east along the shore.

JAW'S BEACH

The beach is named as a tribute to 'Jaws Revenge', which was shot at this location. Jaws Beach is probably the most picturesque beach in Nassau. It's not every day you get to bask in the sunshine at a world-famous movie set! Jaws beach is more off the beaten track for its remote location and that is the exact reason why it's loved by locals.

SPANISH WELLS BEACH

Spanish Wells is a quiet fishing village where you can enjoy modern conveniences but still relax on a gorgeous pink-sand beach that feels like it's on your own private island fringed by water as clear as glass. Stretching from Spanish Wells to the northeast tip of Eleuthera is the beautiful Devil's Backbone barrier reef, which is fantastic for snorkeling.

PINK SANDS BEACH

Pink sand. It's stunning. When the turquoise water runs to the shore, you'll think you're standing in a watercolor painting. The light rose color results from foraminifera – a marine animal – and its red shell, which crushes and later mixes with the white sand. This unusual, elegant beach provides ultimate relaxation. You can go swimming, snorkeling, and fishing. You might want to stick around a while to visit the town in the evening and enjoy its exciting nightlife.

THE LIGHTHOUSE BEACH

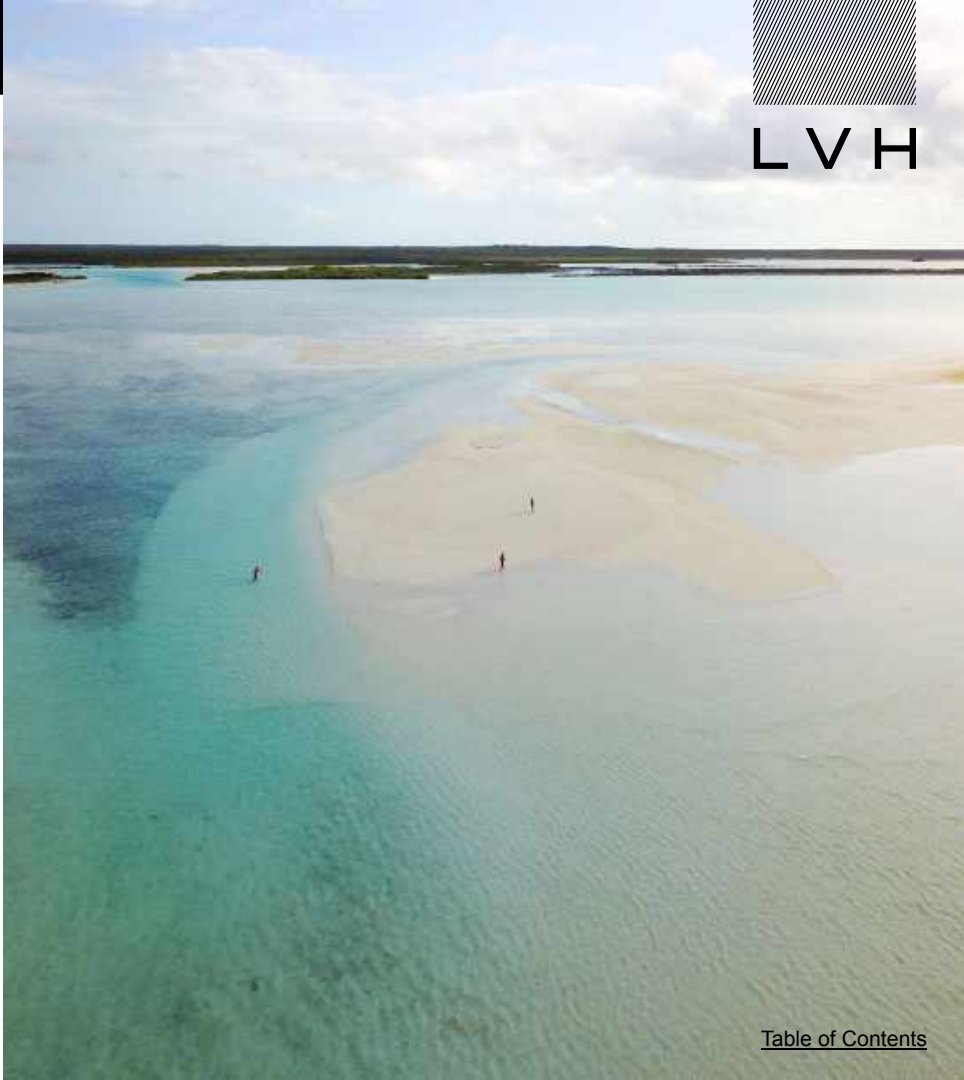

Lighthouse beach on Eleuthera Island is the definition of serenity. Kick back and watch the waves lap against the shore as you regain clarity, peace, and parts of yourself long forgotten in the chaos of everyday life. A 4x4 may be required to get to the beach, as the road is quite rugged, but once you get there, it is well-worth the effort.

COCO PLUM BEACH

This beach is not only one of the most beautiful beaches in the Caribbean, but it is a popular site for kite surfing, wind surfing, and snorkeling. When the tide goes out on this beach, you can walk out almost half a mile on the sand, in water that's about ankle deep. Many visitors use this opportunity to collect sand dollars, which are in abundance on this beach.

TROPIC OF CANCER BEACH

Also known as Pelican Beach, Tropic of Cancer Beach is a crescent of sand as soft and white as powdered sugar bordering translucent turquoise water along the coast of Little Exuma. The longest beach on the island, it's also the prettiest, and chances are, you'll have it all to yourself. The beach gets its name from the meridian line located at 23N '75 35W, defining the northern extent of the tropics that crosses right through it. This beach is one of Exuma's well-kept secrets. .

TREASURE CAY BEACH – THE ABACOS

A visit to Treasure Cay Beach will help you realize dreams do come true! This more than three-mile beach is absolute heaven and consists of sugary white sand complemented by azure water. Now, for one of the best parts: little to no tourists. This beach is almost undiscovered. There will be plenty of room for you to enjoy the surroundings in privacy. There are no crowds, no ogling spectators, just you, the sand, and the water as you relax on a lounge chair.

CAPE SANTA MARIA BEACH – LONG ISLAND

Many people who visit Cape Santa Maria describe it as the most tranquil, relaxing place they've ever been. The four-mile talcum powder sand beach is outstanding. It's the perfect beach for water sports and you can even rent a catamaran. If you love shelling, you'll find lots of treasures here. This beach is lovely for families since the water is also ideal for swimming.

CAYS

Table of Contents

Cays are small islands belonging to a larger main island. There are more than 700 Islands of the Bahamas, and these cays are little slices of bliss. Any visit to the Bahamas must include visiting some of the cays – these five for sure.

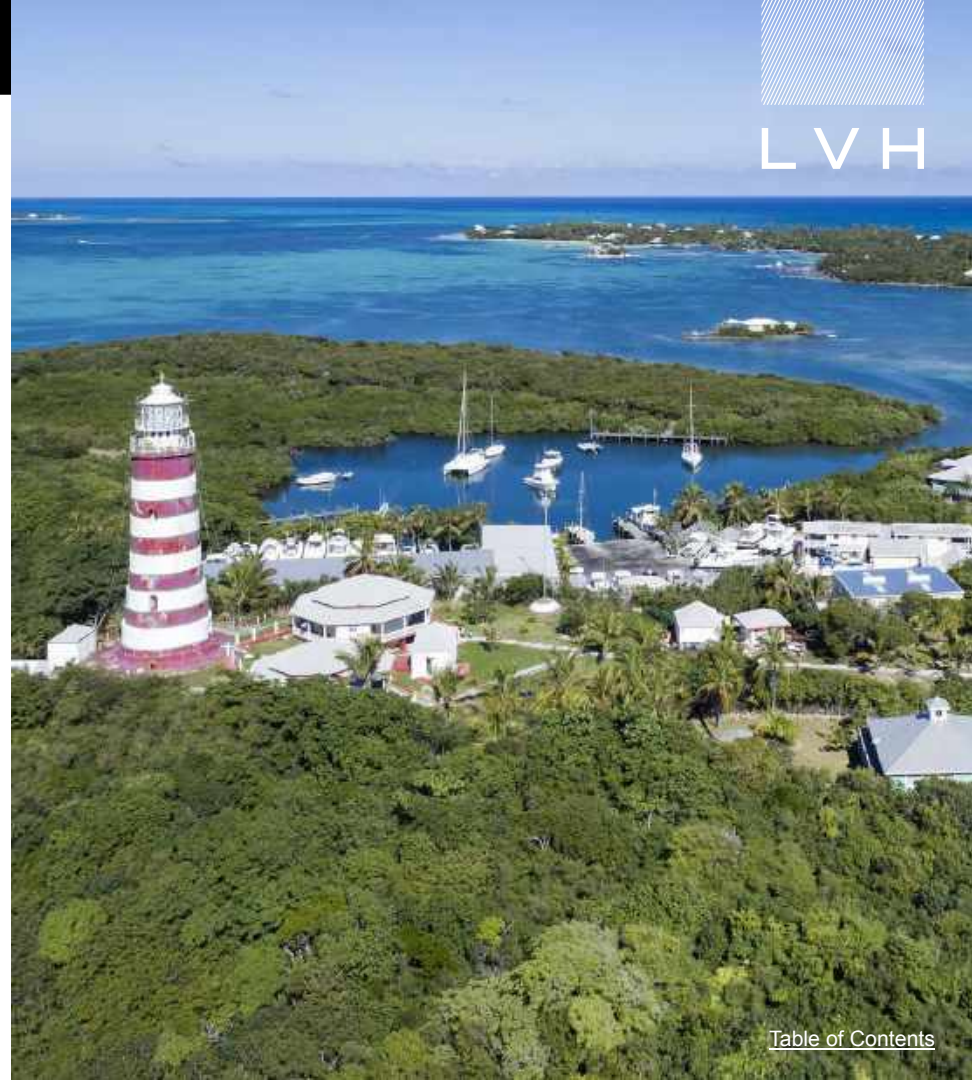

1. Elbow Cay
2. Arawak Cay
3. Potter's Cay
4. Compass Cay
5. Staniel Cay

ELBOW CAY

Greeted by the Hope Town Lighthouse (one of the most photogenic spots in Elbow Cay Bahamas), visitors are treated to a tiny village made of wooden colonial-style cottages and a lot of greenery; this is Hope Town Bahamas of Elbow Cay. It is the 'artsy' cay - a home to BIFF (Bahamas International Film Festival), The Hummingbird Cottage and The Johnston Art Foundry, to name a few. On September 1, 2019 Hurricane Dorian made landfall on Elbow Cay as a Category 5 hurricane, making it the worst natural disaster the country has ever seen. The cay is slowly rebuilding to its former glory.

ARAWAK CAY

Due to its popularity of local seafood, Arawak Cay is also known as The Fish Fry. You can get all sorts of Bahamian seafood here. Just a 10-minute ride from Nassau's hub, and you'll feel like you're in a different world at Arawak. This seaside stretch is filled with hand-painted wooden stands, dinged-up food trucks, and rainbow-hued stand-alone restaurants, all with deep roots in Caribbean history. The Fish Fry is a place for Bahamians to come together to share the unique flavors of home and for visitors to sample everything from guava duffs to conch salads and fish from steamed to "cracked."

POTTERS CAY

If conch is among your favorite seafood, you have to visit Potters Cay. Under the soaring overpass connecting Nassau to Paradise Island are the sleepy fishing docks, lively fruit markets, and brightly-colored conch shacks of Potters Cay. All day long, roughly 40 chefs in 40 different shacks cook fresh conch dishes in 40 different ways. How do you know what to try? Before heading to the cay, ask a local which stall is their favorite!

COMPASS CAY

One of the best places in the Exumas to swim with the nurse sharks is in Compass Cay. Nurse sharks that live in warm and shallow waters of the Exuma Cays are friendly animals and, for the most part, harmless to swimmers and divers. Local fishermen feed them, so they're accustomed to humans and welcome a pat on the back.

STANIEL CAY

This island is part of the Exuma Cays. If you are looking for something different from touristy, bustling settings like Nassau, the Exuma Cays is the right place to head. Staniel Cay is the place to see the infamous swimming pigs. You can spend the day snorkeling and taking pics with these adorable animals.

THE ARTS

THE ARTS

Bahamians enjoy sharing their culture and their love of the arts with visitors. Most people still equate the Bahamas with sun, sand, and sea, yet it has a thriving art scene that continues to be recognized on the global stage. The Bahamas has long had a vibrant arts community encompassing artists working in a wide variety of creative fields. The National Art Gallery of The Bahamas features an extensive collection of primarily Bahamian art, including paintings by Amos Ferguson, sculptures by Antonius Roberts, and pencil drawings of historic Nassau from the 18th century. Other galleries and Bahamas artist studios are located in Nassau and throughout other Bahama islands.

1. The Hummingbird Cottage Art Center
2. The Johnston Art Foundry
3. Sacred Space
4. The National Art Gallery of the Bahamas (NAGB)
5. Heritage Museum of the Bahamas

HUMMINGBIRD COTTAGE ART CENTRE

The Hummingbird Cottage Art Centre might be one of the most remote art galleries in the world. It's located in Hope Town, a district with roughly 500 inhabitants and part of the Great Abaco archipelago in the north. Despite the challenging geographical location, Hummingbird represents a group of talented painters, however small, whose work is strongly inspired by the distinctive natural and urban landscape: picturesque, colonial houses; leafy palms; lush, colorful flowers. Hope Town's art centre is inside two lovely, quirky wooden cottages with pink walls, specifically constructed to house the collection.

THE JOHNSTON ART FOUNDRY

The late Randolph W. Johnston settled in Little Harbour, Abaco, in 1952 with his wife Margot and three sons Bill, Dennis, and Peter. An artist and professor, he created the first and only art foundry in the Bahamas. When Randolph passed away, his son Peter took over the foundry, adding it to his already thriving business, the famous Pete's Pub in Little Harbour. Quench your thirst and get your fill of fresh fish done to perfection at the pub after visiting the foundry, where you can choose a one-of-a-kind sculpture for your home or office.

SACRED SPACE

Sacred Space, a sculptural installation on The Cove Peninsula, was created by acclaimed Bahamian artist Antonius Roberts. Carved from the Madeira tree, the seven dancing figures, represent the artist's deep-seated respect for the sanctity and significance of the country's trees and forests.

NATIONAL ART GALLERY OF THE BAHAMAS

The National Art Gallery of the Bahamas (NAGB) collects, preserves, exhibits, and interprets historical and contemporary Bahamian arts. The museum educates, uplifts, and inspires. There are several national, rotating, and online exhibits. Natalie Willis, artist and NAGB curator, says “art is not just integral to understanding our unique culture here in the Bahamas and the Caribbean, it is vital to understanding who we are and what our history means for us today.”

HERITAGE MUSEUM OF THE BAHAMAS

Located in Mountbatten House, itself an interesting building and once the summer home of Lord Louis Mountbatten, Admiral of the Fleet for Great Britain and the last Viceroy of India, the Heritage Museum of the Bahamas is part of the Graycliff Heritage Village. A large part of the museum's collection belongs to the British antique dealer Hamilton White. Exhibits range from a slice of meteorite (about 4.5 billion years old), artifacts dating to the era of Christopher Columbus in the late 15th century, to a slave bench with iron ankle shackles that brings plantation life into sharp focus.

Popular events in the Bahamas, like festivals, are closely related to the country's cultural wealth. There are more than 700 islands that make up the whole of the Bahamas, but only 24 are inhabited, but that's enough for the nation to have a complete festivities' calendar. The population in the Bahamas is made up of a melting pot of different native customs, so festivals are colorful and varied. The population is predominantly of African origin, so events have fundamental traditional roots. DRIVE THE QUEEN'S HIGHWAY

If you're all about spectacular scenery, let us arrange your luxury car rental for the road trip of a lifetime. Become a part of the surroundings on The Queen's Highway where jagged cliff faces, plantation ruins, and pirate paintings dot a truly dramatic coastline. The Queen's Highway runs about 110 miles from one end of Eleuthera to another. Make stops at Preacher's Cave, The Queen's Bath, and Glass Window Bridge – three of the most well-known attractions in the country. You can also visit plantation ruins near Bannerman Town and include a side trip to Harbour Island.

CLIFTON HERITAGE NATIONAL PARK

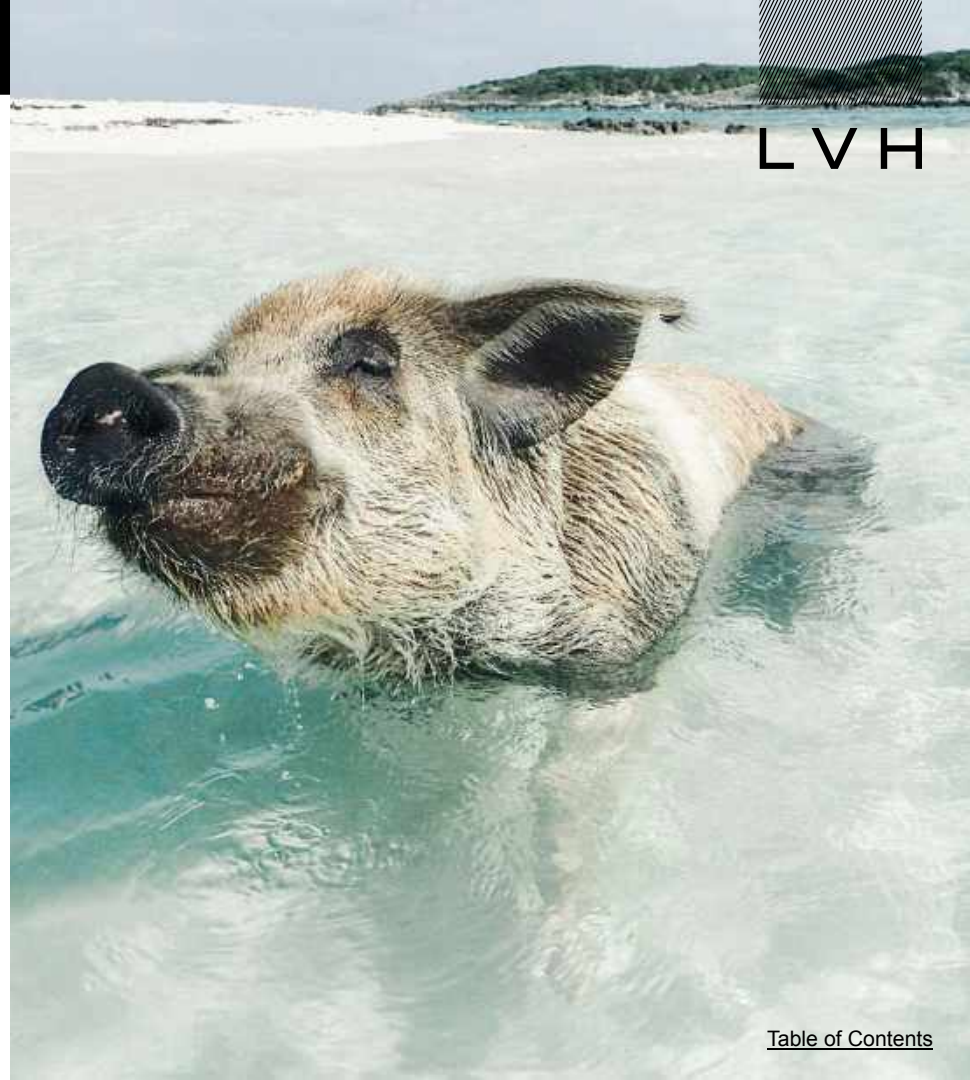

Clifton Heritage National Park pays homage to three essential groups that impacted the country: the Lucayans, the Loyalists, and the Africans. A walk along the winding trails throughout the park will reveal a variety of ecosystems, such as cliffs, coastal wetlands, dunes, rocky shorelines, sandy beaches, and offshore coral reefs. Local fauna includes songbirds, wading birds, seabirds, and other wildlife. Swim, fish, hike, camp, snorkel, birdwatch and have a picnic. There are plenty of activities to keep you riveted and increasingly appreciative of being in this paradise.

PIG BEACH

Pig Beach is one experience most travelers have on their Bahamas itineraries – swimming with pigs. Wonder how the pigs got to Pig Beach on Exuma? No one knows for sure. Big Major Cay is uninhabited, and the pigs are not native to the island. Wherever they came from, there are now about 20 pigs and piglets living the easy life, with daily visits from Bahamians and tourists. They make the most adorable photos and will happily swim alongside you.

SWIMMING WITH NURSE SHARKS

Compass Cay is home to the incredible nurse shark experience. Swimming with these pet nurse sharks is one of the most popular things in the Exuma Cays. These sharks move slowly, are mostly bottom dwellers, and are generally harmless to humans. However, if they feel threatened, they still have the jaw strength to crunch right through their regular diets of coral and shellfish, so it's advised to be respectful around them.

FEEDING ROCK IGUANAS

Little dinosaurs roam the land on Bitter Guana Cay. You can visit endangered Bahamian Rock Iguanas on a day trip to the Exuma Cays and Staniel Cay. They are mild-mannered and not easily angered, and they will readily take food from your hand. However, keep in mind that they are wild creatures and should be treated with respect and fed with caution. On your visit, you're encouraged to ask how you can help resurrect this dying breed.

BLUE HOLES NATIONAL PARK

The park's 33,235 acres protects a large number of blue holes and freshwater reservoirs. Surrounding pine and coppice forests are also protected. Sign up for a park expedition to visit three different blue holes and two very diverse forest areas by walking, swimming and snorkeling. One of the stops is at Cousteau's Blue Hole, where Jacques Cousteau went to dive in the 1960s. By snorkeling, you'll be able to explore this magical underworld that fascinated the oceanographer legend so many years ago.

Like road trips on the sea, boating can take you to as many of the Bahama's 700 islands as you want. Stop for scuba diving or snorkeling. Hop across this incredible archipelago from Grand Bahama Island to the Exumas and relish every moment.

DIVING WITH WILD REEF SHARKS

Stuart's Cove is a long-time fixture in Nassau, famous for its shark diving encounters. This adventure is a must for any scuba diver excited to get up close with wild reef sharks. First, you'll get to explore the reef where the sharks congregate, so you can swim alongside them. A second dive is a feeding experience where you'll rest on the seafloor while the divemaster chums sharks. Stuart's Cove also offers a two-day underwater shark feeder program teaching you how to safely feed these amazing creatures.

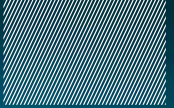

DIVING AT LUCAYAN NATIONAL PARK

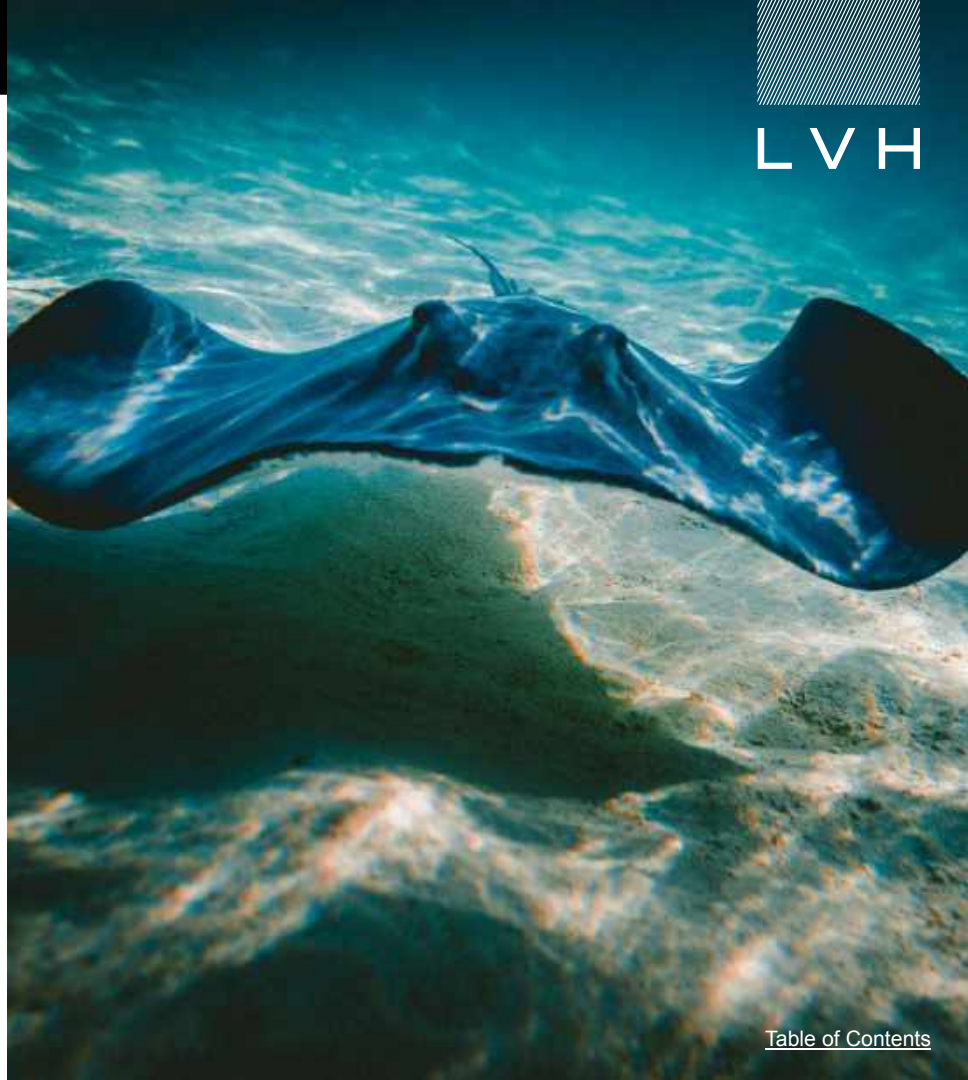

Lucayan National Park has six ecosystems and two caves in very close proximity. The dive site is a cave known as Ben's Cave, and it extends for almost nine miles underwater. Encounter stalactites, stalagmites, a halocline, fossilized conch shells, and bivalves. Divers will experience an amazing adventure that takes them back in time. After the dive, continue the adventure through six different ecosystems. Enjoy lunch on gorgeous Fortune Bay Beach surrounded by Coconut palms facing the turquoise sea.

SNORKELING WITH STINGRAYS

The Bahamas is the ideal location for a stingray experience eco-tour. On a private tour you'll visit several snorkeling spots along Grand Bahama's reef system. With depths averaging four to 12 feet, you'll see various marine life, including getting up close and personal with graceful stingrays.

SURFING AT SURFER'S BEACH

The local surfers here are generous, perhaps more generous with their waves than anywhere else in the world. The men are the unofficial ambassadors of Surfer's Beach. They eagerly take the role of surf instructor, lifeguard, and friend to visitors who have found themselves in the presence of waves that seem too big to belong here.

KAYAKING

Paddle a special glass-bottomed kayak out to Cabo San Lucas' most famous landmark, El Arco, and the famed Land's End, where two oceans meet – the warm waters of the Sea of Cortez and the cool waters of the mighty Pacific. Along the way, paddlers can watch for brilliantly colored tropical fish and other sea animals through the kayak's unique glass bottom.

JET SKIING

Experience the thrill of speed and splashing water as you ride your wave runner in Bahamas' tropical waters. A jet ski adventure is perfect for individuals as well as couples. You will get a highly competent water sports operator to explain safety measures and show you how to operate the jet ski. You have the option to ride alone or with a partner.

SEABOBS

You can move through the water like a fish freely, both on the surface and at depth manning a seabob. At the same time, the seabob is entirely environmentally friendly, zooming powerfully yet nearly silently through the water. Impressive diving depths of up to 130 feet can be programmed to suit your requirements via the onboard electronics. A safety cut-off feature reliably ensures you don't exceed your selected diving depth.

KITESURFING AND KITEBOARDING

Kitesurfing and kiteboarding are now mainstream sports worldwide, but are still pretty low-key in the Bahamas and that's to your advantage. Throughout the islands, there is so much space and so many amazing flat-water opportunities, and you probably won't even see another kitesurfer or kiteboarder on a windy day, depending on which island you are on. Many people use the terms kiteboarding and kitesurfing interchangeably. But they are two different styles of kite-sports. Kiteboarders typically use a twin tip board, which is great for flat water riding and jumping. Kitesurfers ride a strapless surfboard and go out to the reef to surf waves. Either way, there are a number of pros available to teach you and to make sure you're having a great time.

AIR

For a completely different perspective of the Bahamas and its Out Islands, you have a take to the sky. Like the native Bahama Parrot, soar over pine and coppice forests, dive over the azure sea breathing air as pristine as the white sands. Instead of island hopping by boat, charter a plane to see as many of the 700 cays as you can. For more remote locations, getting there by seaplane would be ideal. There are several day trips you could take to create memories that would last a lifetime. For instance, you could fly from Nassau to Staniel Cay in the Exumas to frolic with the famous swimming pigs. See sharks, feed iguanas, visit Sand Bars and Thunderball Grotto. There is just so much to do, and getting there by air is quick and easy.

PARASAILING

Parasailing is the ultimate, exciting sea adventure. You wear a parachute and are pulled behind a motorboat to sail through the air. What could be more thrilling and exhilarating? You'll be flying about 500 feet above sea level while you gaze over the crystalline blue waters of the Bahamas in birdlike splendor.

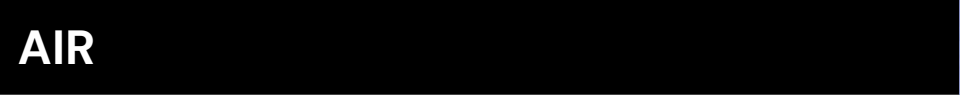

ISLANDS ON THE FLY/ISLAND HOPPING BY SEAPLANE

Some say that island hopping is the best way to see the Bahamas. Hopping by plane is the most efficient and picturesque way to explore this magnificent destination, especially with more than 700 islands from which to choose. With everything from yachting, snorkeling, and scuba diving to discovering exotic animals and treating yourself to the local delicacies, an island-hopping Bahamas tour of the Out Islands in a private, chartered plane is an experience you will remember forever.

SKYDIVE OVER BAHAMAS

If you've never experienced skydiving before, the Bahamas is the place to go for it! Skydiving isn't for the faint of heart, this extreme sport takes guts, but the glory is worth it. If this is your first time skydiving, your first jump will be in tandem with a professional. You'll soon realize there's nothing quite like the feeling of flying in the open air. It's absolute freedom. So, if you're truly looking for a thrill, skydiving is it!

LAND

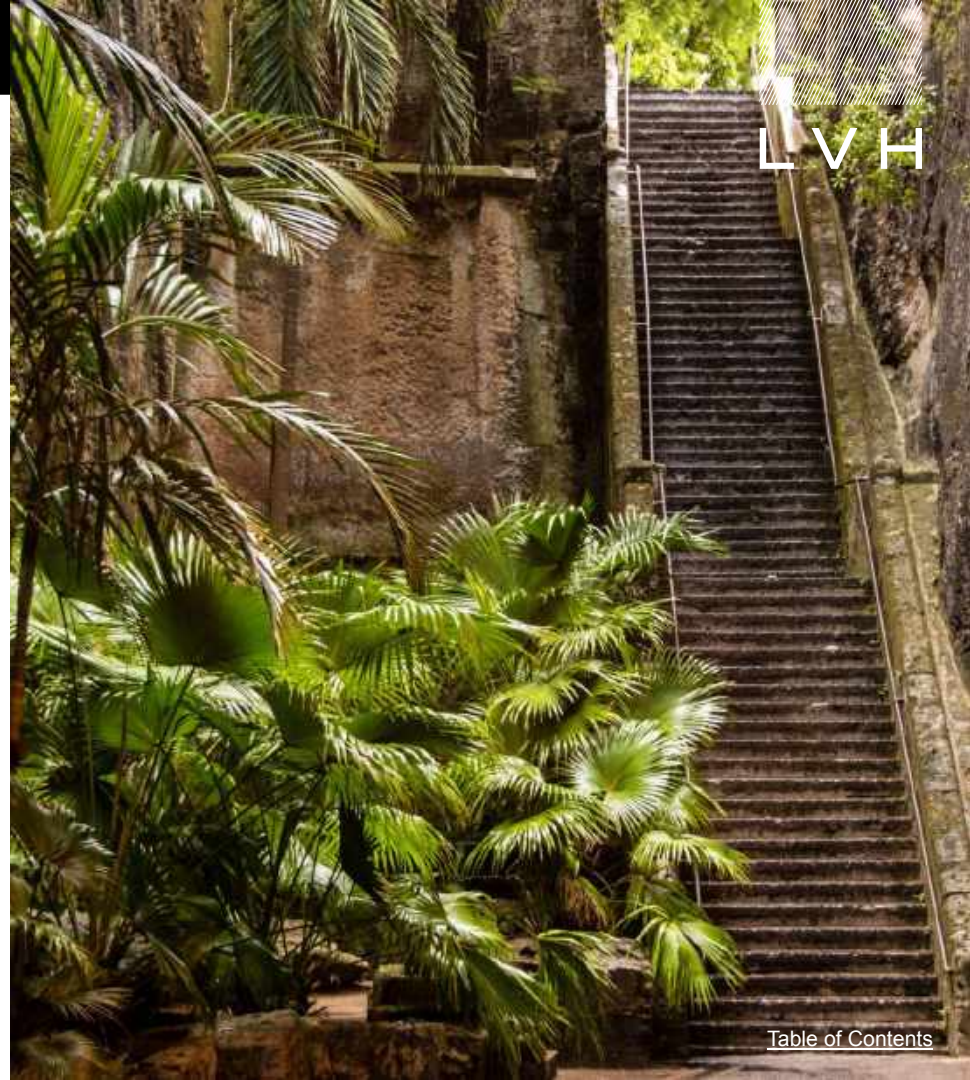

In the Bahamas, you don't have to get wet if you're a "keep my feet on the ground" kind of person. There are plenty of activities for landlubbers as well. Vast opportunities for scenic hikes and walks abound. Getting on a horse for a sunset beach ride is centering and freeing. Renting a luxury vehicle and heading out on the open road surrounded by the sea and lush vegetation would be an excellent adventure and make for some incredible snapshots of a magical trip

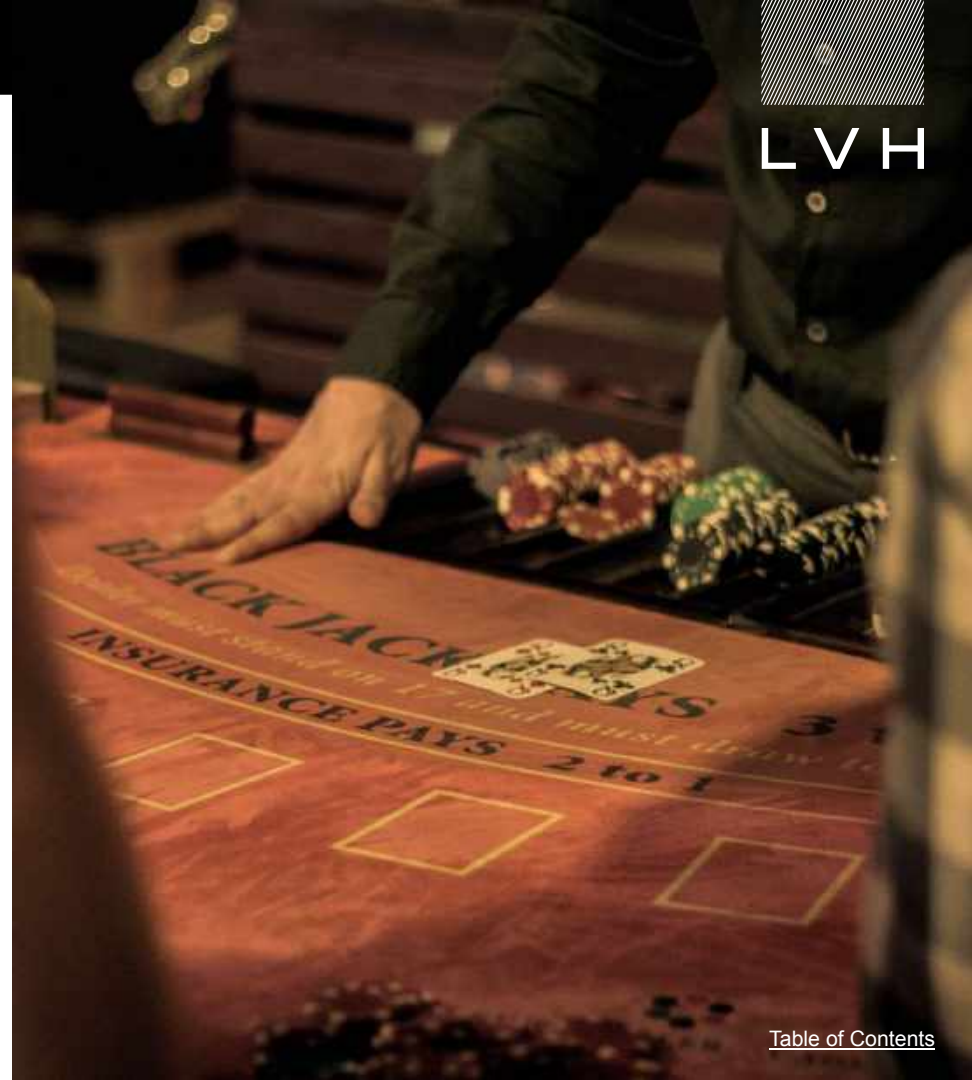

DOWNTOWN NASSAU CULTURAL WALKING TOUR

On a three-hour, guided walking tour, learn about Nassau's colorful history, from piracy and the colonial era to the present. Marvel at the centuries-old architecture, take in the beautiful views from Fort Fincastle. Walk to the top of Elizabeth Avenue for a 15-minute stop at the famous Queen's Staircase built in the 18th century by 600 slaves honoring, ironically, how Queen Victoria helped to abolish slavery in the Bahamas. These are only some of the stops on this fascinating, culturally informative stroll.

CASINOS

If you like to try your luck at blackjack, roulette, craps, or baccarat, the Bahamas has many casinos in resorts; however, the most popular is the Atlantis and the Baha Mar. The Atlantis has 85 gaming tables and 700 slot machines and is considered one of the best in the Caribbean, and Baha Mar is the Caribbean's largest casino with 119 tables and more than 1,100 slot machines. Maybe it's time to plan a date with Lady Luck!

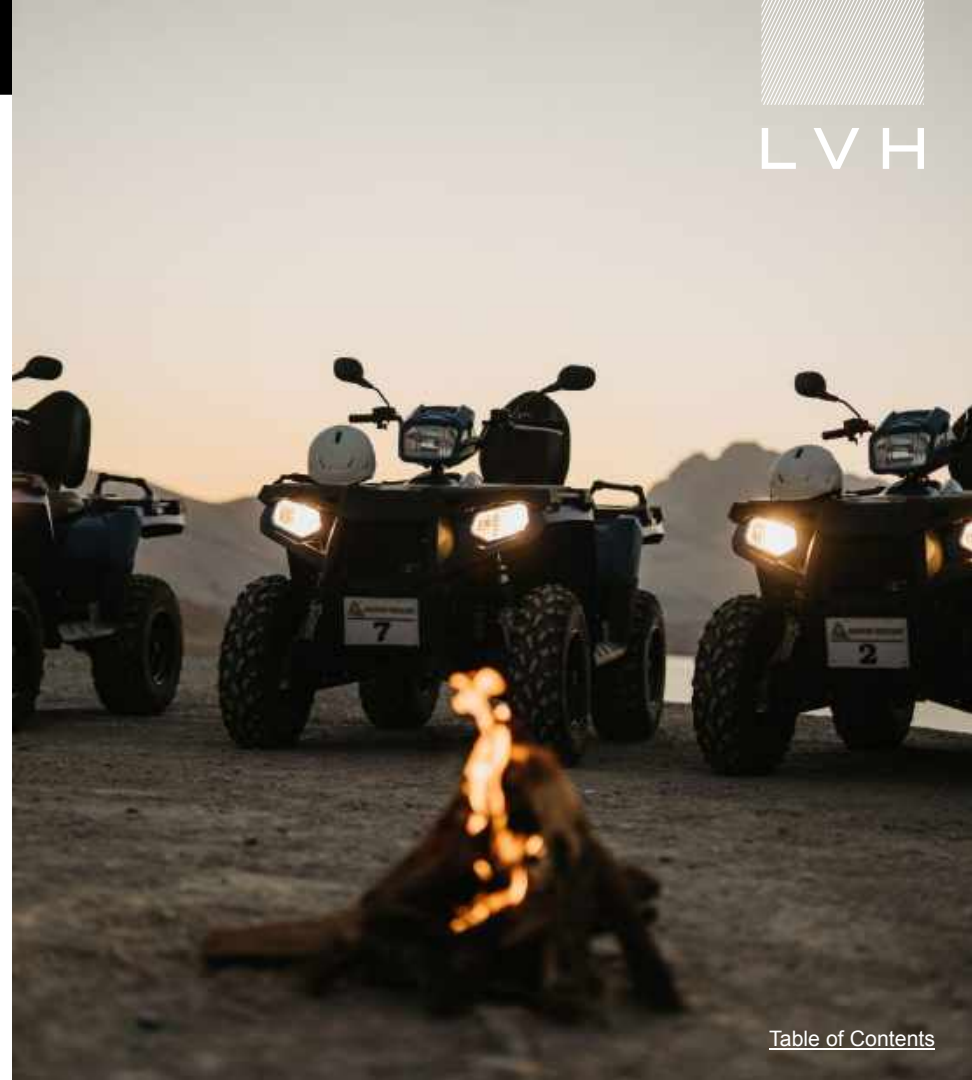

HORSEBACK RIDING

Horseback riding is a must on the to-do list in the Bahamas and it is loved by almost every tourist. Whether it's a relaxing sunset ride or uniquely Bahamian one on the pink sands, everyone can find a pleasurable ride of their own. One of the best ways to experience the Bahamas islands is by straddling this gracious animal.

ALL-TERRAIN VEHICLE (ATV) TOUR

Rent an ATV for the day to explore Nassau's historical landmarks and colonial architecture, such as the Neo-classical facade of Government House painted a bright pink. Stop by the famous Queen's Staircase connecting Nassau with Fort Fincastle. Enjoy the freedom to go wherever you want, whenever you want, since the entire island is open to you and your ATV. Cruise down seaside West Bay Street and look for a spot to relax, or make your way to Cable Beach and kick back on the white sand.

HIKING

There is nothing quite like experiencing the Bahamas on foot. There are a myriad of trails and paths for you to explore. Getting on these trails will ensure you leave the Bahamas with a better understanding and appreciation of its beauty. Some of the spots to check out are Preacher's Cave on Eleuthera, Andros Island Pine Forest, Exuma Cays Land and Sea Park, and Bimini Mangrove Forests.

BAHAMIAN DANCERS

African slaves or their descendants in the islands had no standard musical instruments. They used work tools and everyday utility items to make music. Tin tubs were used as drums, pebbles were placed in bottles to create shakers, and metal nails were raked across a carpenter's saw to produce the rake 'n scrape rhythm. With music came dancing. African inhabitants began to adopt the quadrille, a dance they witnessed being enjoyed by European settlers. Of course, dances were modified to the African experience and taste. In the Bahamian context, the waltz, heel and toe polka, and round dance were used as the specific elements of the quadrille, but with African influences. Can you imagine the thrill you'll give your guests when you book dancers to entertain at the party you're hosting at your villa? Just say the word and we'll take care of everything.
