ABOUT

Cortina d'Ampezzo, otherwise known as the "Queen of the Dolomites," is the purest expression of Italian alpine beauty. Sheer cliff faces and jagged peaks provide a spectacular backdrop to a charming village bursting with Italian charm and cosmopolitan comforts. Grand hotels and luxurious chalets dot the landscape, showcasing exquisite craftsmanship in a fairytale setting. The natural surroundings of Cortina d'Ampezzo are truly captivating, featuring majestic mountain peaks, lush valleys, and crystal-clear lakes.

The Dolomites, a UNESCO World Heritage site, offer a picturesque backdrop for outdoor activities and exploration. The town itself is known for its upscale shopping boutiques, high-end restaurants, and exclusive nightlife venues. Cortina d'Ampezzo also hosts a range of seasonal attractions, including skiing and snowboarding in winter, and hiking and mountain biking in summer, as well as cultural events throughout the year. Serene and idyllic with an illustrious aristocratic heritage, Cortina is a wondrous bastion of health tourism, winter sports, and luxury resorts. As the host of the upcoming 2026 Winter Olympics, the buzz around this gorgeous resort town builds with each passing day.

FRAINA

Fraina, a locality within Cortina d'Ampezzo, sits at an elevation of 1318 meters. This quaint village is part of the province of Belluno in the Veneto region and is situated close to Coiana. The history of this area is deeply rooted in ancient legends and beliefs. For instance, Faloria, a mountain in the vicinity, was considered sacred as it was believed to be a gateway to the god Silvanus. Moreover, Fraina is thought to be one of the first human settlements in the Ampezzo valley.

One of the best ways to explore Fraina and its surroundings is by embarking on a walk through the Mandres larch forest. This easy trek takes you through verdant landscapes and brings you close to Fattoria Meneguto, an agritourism venue at the foot of the slopes that rise steeply up to Monte Faloria. The walk, which covers a distance of 2 mi and takes about 1 hour and 45 minutes, offers a unique opportunity to immerse yourself in the natural beauty of the area and learn about its ancient legends.

A wondrous collection of fossils resides here, bearing witness to an ancient era when the land was submerged beneath a vast sea. Majestic megalodons, delicate shells of marine invertebrates, intricate corals, and countless other remnants of prehistoric creatures stand as tangible reminders of a time long past. These precious exhibits, gathered from across the Dolomites, were meticulously curated by esteemed local researcher Rinaldo Zardini, who dedicated his life to studying the geological evolution of the Ampezzo valley. As you wander through the halls of the museum, you are taken on a journey through time, uncovering the remarkable story of life in the tropical seas that once covered this very land.
