ABOUT

The City of Los Angeles holds many distinctions. First, Los Angeles, or simply LA, is the unofficial entertainment capital of the entire planet. Second, an absolute cultural mecca boasting over 100 museums, a world-class cultural itinerary is rounded off with some of the most idyllic coastal weather to boot.

Nestled between glorious mountains, barren deserts, and the Pacific Ocean, LA occupies a sprawling 469 square miles with an environment so idyllic that people always look for a negative catch. Its character is ethereal and otherworldly, earning the beloved moniker, the City of Angels. Electric with ethnic diversity and an uncanny Mediterranean climate, Los Angeles belongs to the US just as much as it is a world unto itself. A mythical city that has acted as the world's dream and aspiration factory, Los Angeles is truly unlike any other place vacationers have ever experienced.

NEIGHBORHOODS

NEIGHBORHOODS

LA's surrounding neighborhoods resemble a sprawling checkerboard of diversity and eclecticism. Between the communities straddling the coastline, and the flatlands of the desert basin, LA county incorporates more than 100 distinct areas. The task of navigation is just as exciting as it is exhausting. A place of grandeur and extremes, LA's desert sprawl and notorious traffic, are indicative of the city's wildly overambitious spirit. At the heart of the action is a stretch incorporating the bustles of downtown, the glamor of the Hollywood Hills, to the buzzing beach towns of Santa Monica and Venice. Take it from the local commuters, to fully appreciate Los Angeles, visitors better not be in a rush!

RESTAURANTS

Los Angeles is all about excess and contrasts, and thankfully, these two adjectives perfectly describe Southern California's refined dining epicenter. Tinseltown features the exceptional range and quality of New York's culinary scene but in a far more pleasant atmosphere, leaving open a universe of alfresco dining options. From tranquil beachside dining to glamorous rooftop terraces with the endless lights of Los Angeles displayed before you, LA's culinary scene never ceases to surprise. Ground zero to audacious Asian fusion concept restaurants, the city's Pacific positioning makes it a fascinating culinary node combining east and west. A center of trendsetting, LA's gastronomic innovations are always cutting edge.

LOUNGES

LOUNGES

A delicate mix between a social club, entertainment venue, and bar, the lounge is the haunt of preference in L.A. The lounge encapsulates the city's spirit, where the glitz and glamor of the Hollywood hills permeate every aspect of leisure, from nibbling on a bite, watching a performance, to drinking and schmoozing. Some may dismiss it as superficiality, but in L.A, unabashed pride is taken in one's look, and the city's lounges are the places to be seen. It's in the city's posh rooftop or speakeasy-style lounges where auditions are granted, business deals are made, and friendships are forged.

THE ARTS

Table of Contents

Los Angeles beats out New York for the more museums and theatres than any other American city, and a far superior climate only adds more sting! As the seat of the movie industry, it is only natural that creative expression should flourish in all domains. The city's arts district presents a kaleidoscopic love letter to urban art, an area where young artists channel the zeitgeist through murals, graffiti, and street art. Uncover the roots of old Hollywood with a visit to the TCL Chinese Theatre, an L.A. icon wrapped up in mystique. Marvel at the architectural wonders left by Frank Lloyd Wright or Frank Gehry. Whatever your sphere of cultural interest, from contemporary art to opera or ballet, Los Angeles has it in spades.

THE ARTS DISTRICT

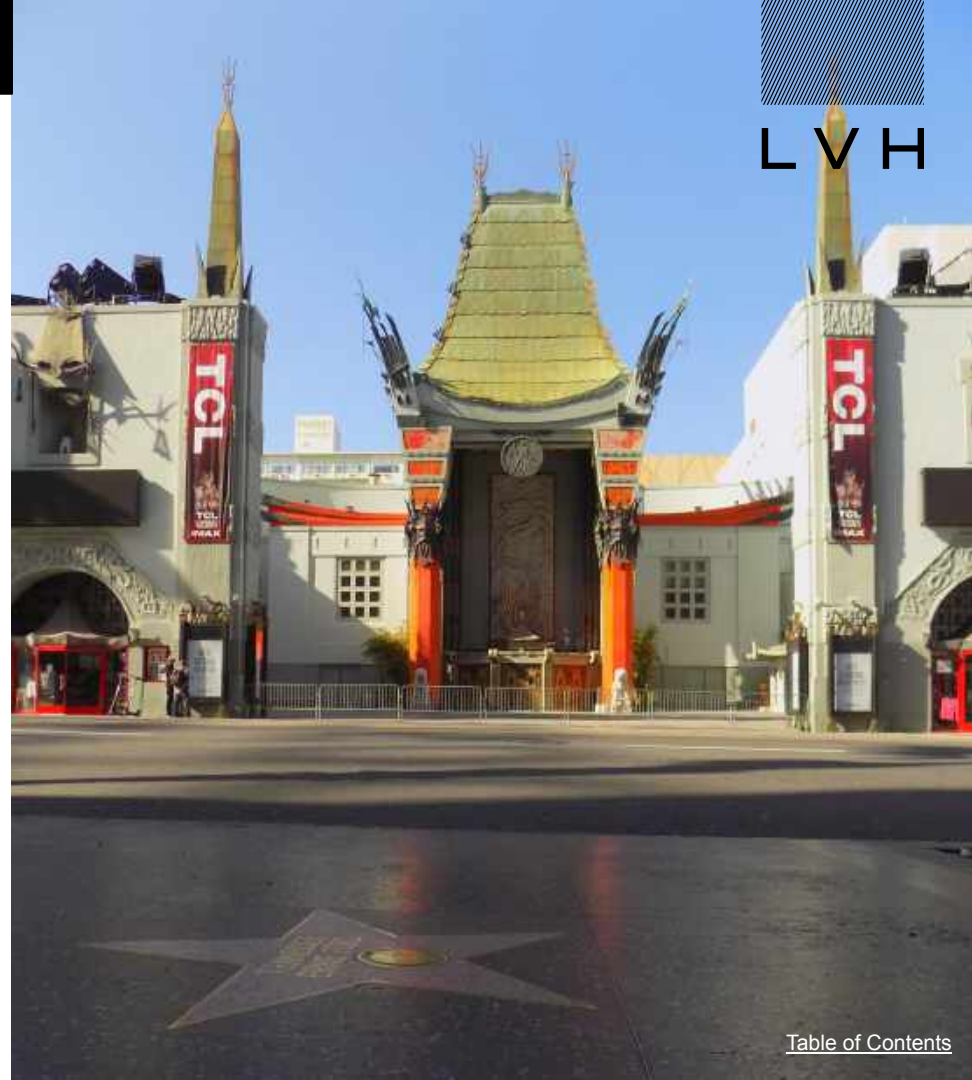

The Arts District is one of the hottest neighborhoods in Downtown LA; the area resembles an open art gallery filled with murals and graffiti, each channeling a different facet of the LA way of living, the reflections of the local artists, political matters, and street art. You will experience art at every corner of this neighborhood and get to know some picturesque places.

TCL CHINESE THEATRE

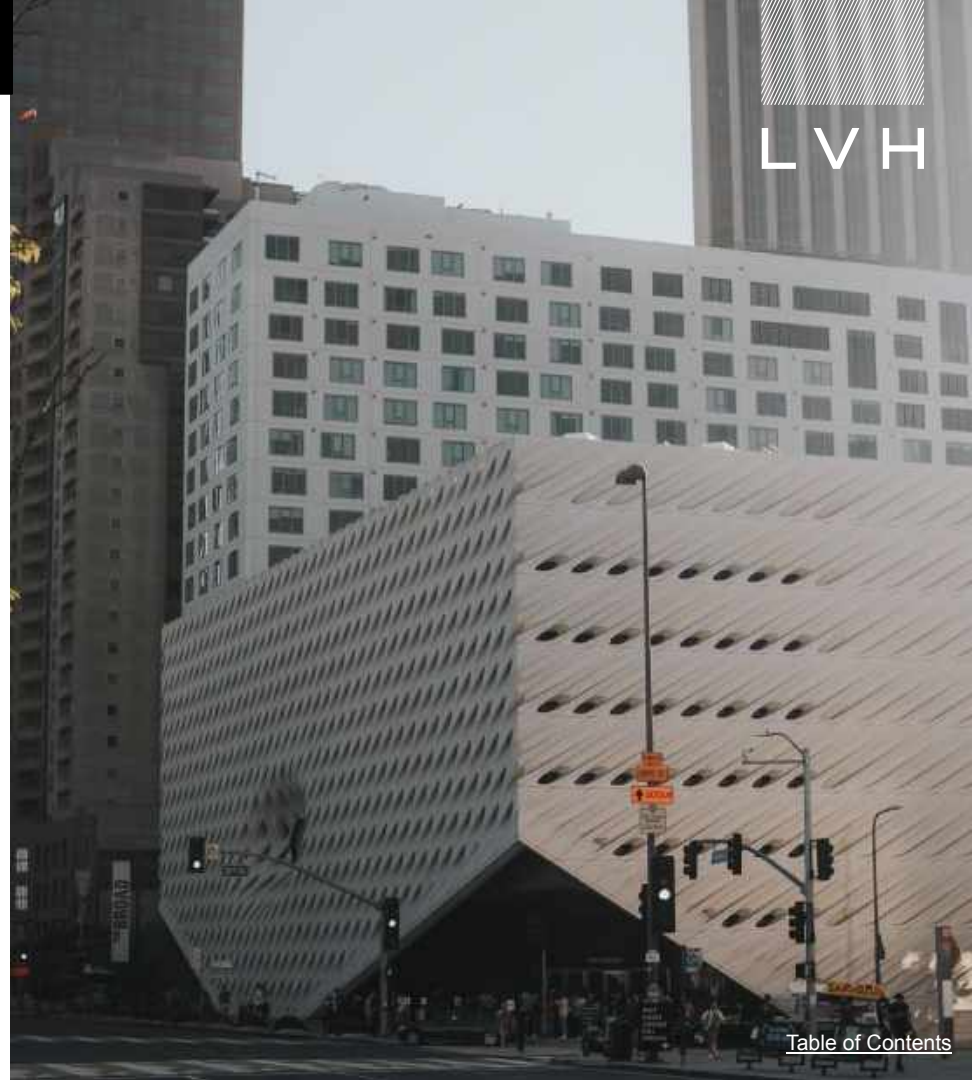

Hollywood history permeates the exquisitely decorated Grauman's Chinese Theatre on the Walk of Fame. Designed to resemble a Chinese pagoda and guarded by a pair of Ming Dynasty lions, it has hosted more than its fair share of premieres since it opened for Cecil B. Now known as the TCL Chinese Theatre, it seats 932 and in 2013 was fitted with a custom IMAX screen – one of the largest in North America.

BROAD MUSEUM

The Broad is a contemporary art museum built by philanthropists Eli and Edythe Broad on Grand Avenue in downtown Los Angeles. The museum is home to 2,000 works of art in The Broad Art Foundation and the Broads' collections, an exhibition that features a selection of more than 250 paintings, sculptures and photographs.

MUSEUMS

With such comfortable weather, and outdoor recreation available, it may be hard to ask for someone to swap the beach day for a museum day. Yet Los Angeles boasts access to some incredible permanent collections spanning from prehistory to the modern day. A permanent pit-stop for the world's premier traveling exhibitions, places like the Getty and Natural History Museum harbor great international acclaim. If you are looking for a cultural experience, a trip to Los Angeles is incomplete without visiting its beloved cultural institutions.

RUNYON CANYON PARK

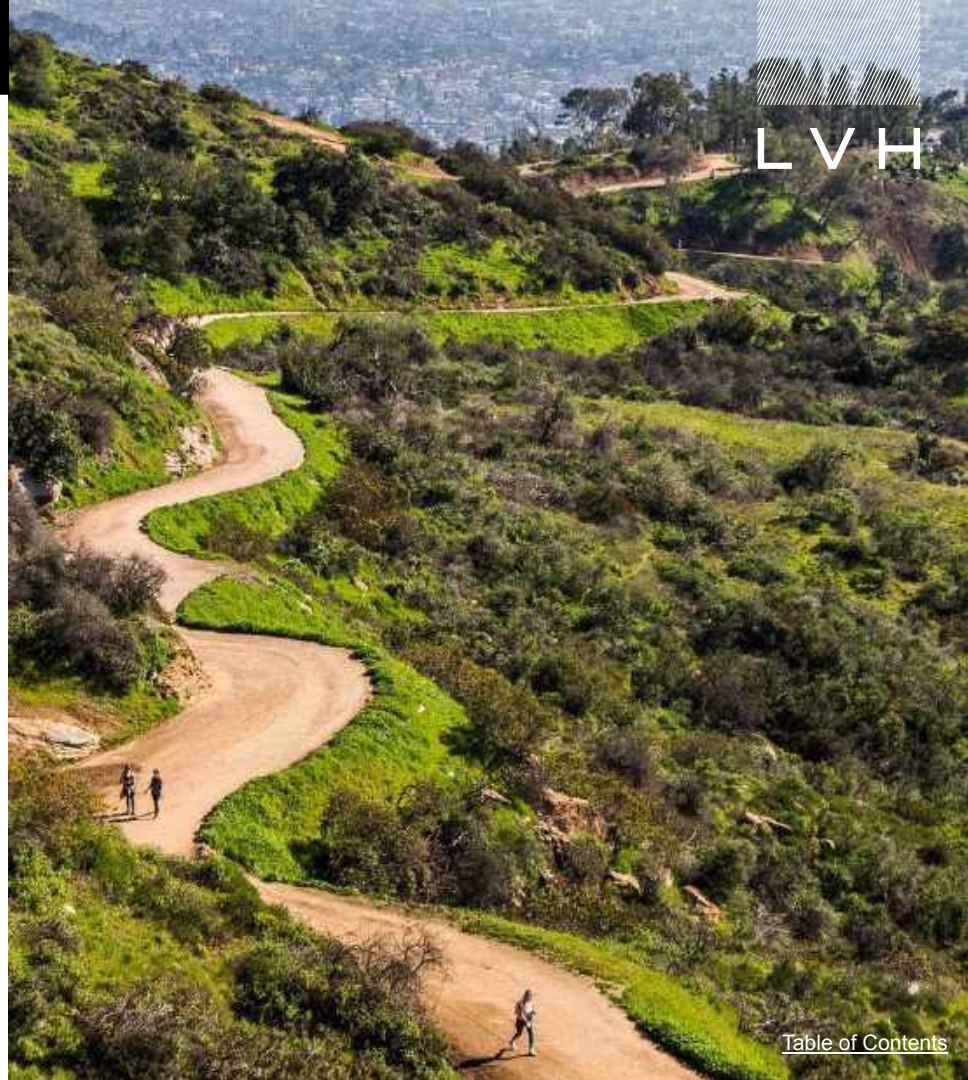

Runyon Canyon Park is one of the most popular hiking destinations in Los Angeles and often shows up on journalists' lists of best hikes in LA. This 130-acre park is located in Hollywood on the east end of the Santa Monica Mountains, providing hikers with magnificent panoramas over Hollywood.

GRIFFITH PARK

Griffith Park is the largest municipal park in the urban wilderness area. The park offers miles of hiking and horseback riding trails, providing visitors an ideal environment for enjoyable recreation activities. There are numerous family attractions and cultural institutions in Griffith Park, including the Autry National Center, The Greek Theatre, the Griffith Observatory, the Los Angeles Zoo and Travel Town.

THE HUNTINGTON LIBRARY

This 207-acre complex houses a library, art collection, and stunning gardens. Besides the most beautiful garden in LA, this complex consists of the library and art gallery, which contain rare books and one of the most complete collections of the 18th-century.

ECHO PARK LAKE

Originally built as a drinking water reservoir in the 1860s, the 13-acre Echo Park Lake is surrounded by 16 acres of open recreational space. With the Downtown L.A. skyline as the backdrop, the parklands, charming footbridge, boathouse, beautiful lotus beds, and the "Lady of the Lake" statue, this park has attracted visitors for generations. Activities include pedal boats, picnic tables, and jogging.

BEACHES

With over 70 miles of shoreline between Malibu to Newport Beach, Los Angeles is truly the destination of the endless summer. From surfing to whale watching, the coastline offers a vast array of activities. The beloved boardwalks of Santa Monica and Venice Beach are integral to the Los Angeles lifestyle, exhibiting an incredible display of life and spontaneity at all times of the day. Whenever the bustle of the city gets a bit too much, you're never too far from the embrace of soft sand and ocean breezes.

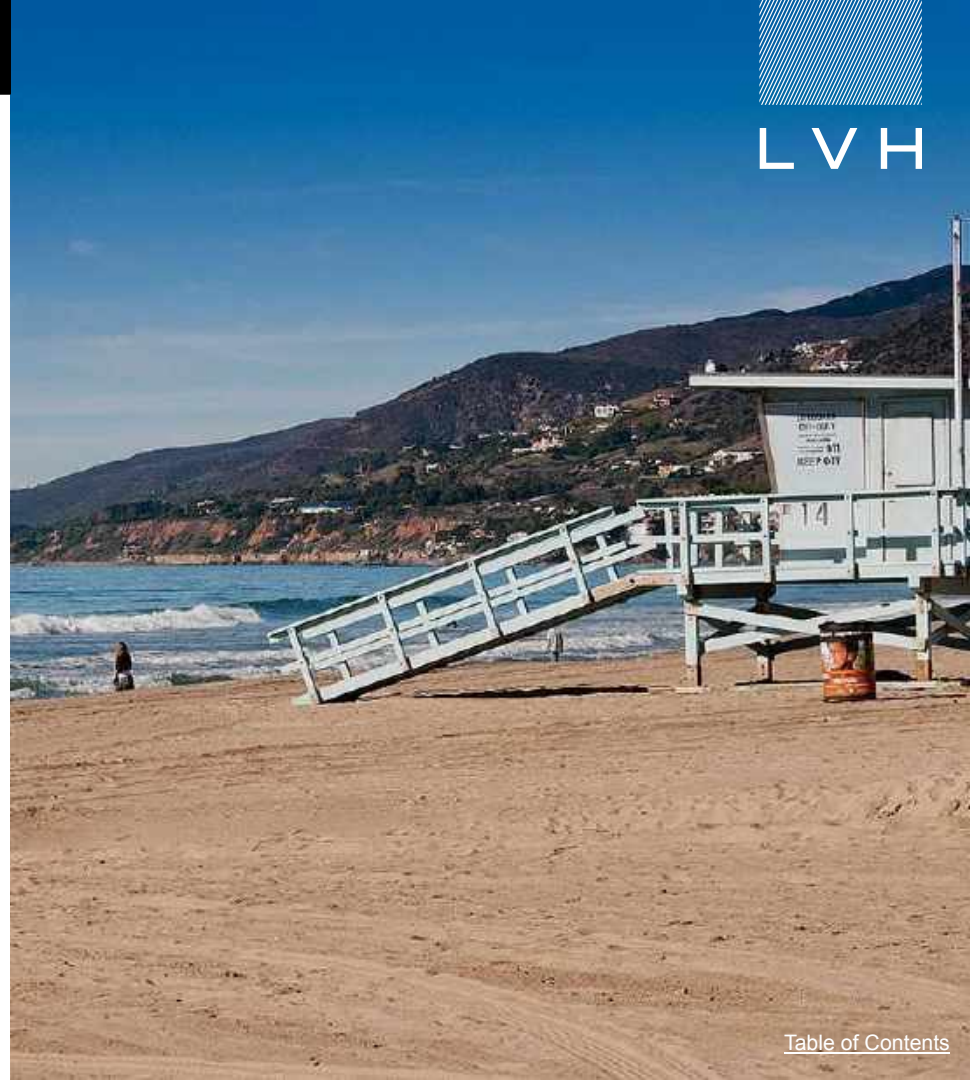

BEACHES

1. Zuma Beach
2. Malibu Lagune/Surfrider Beach
3. Santa Monica Beach
4. Venice Beach
5. Dockweiler Beach
6. El Porto Beach

ZUMA BEACH

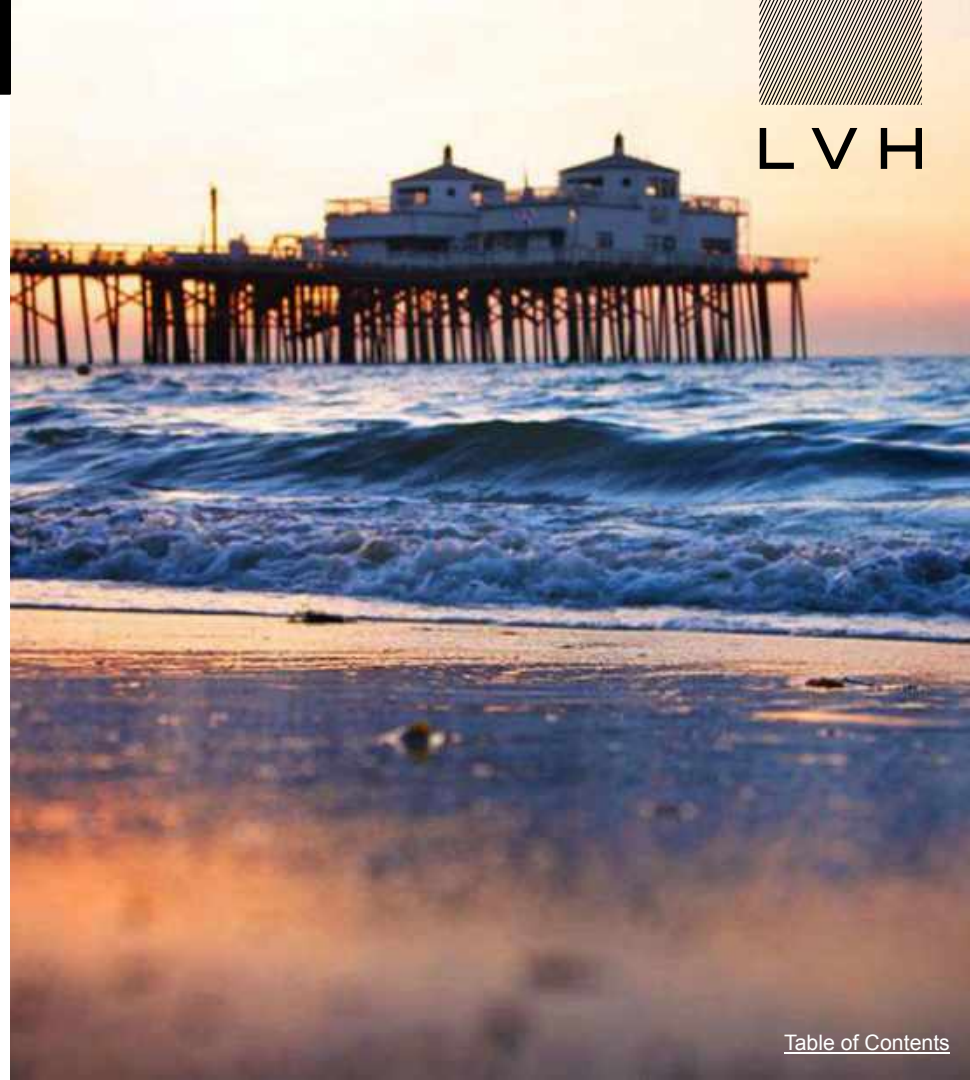

Zuma Beach is a county beach located at 30000 Pacific Coast Highway in Malibu, California. One of the largest and most popular beaches in Los Angeles County, California, Zuma is known for its long, wide sands and excellent surf. It consistently ranks among the healthiest beaches for clean water conditions in Los Angeles County.

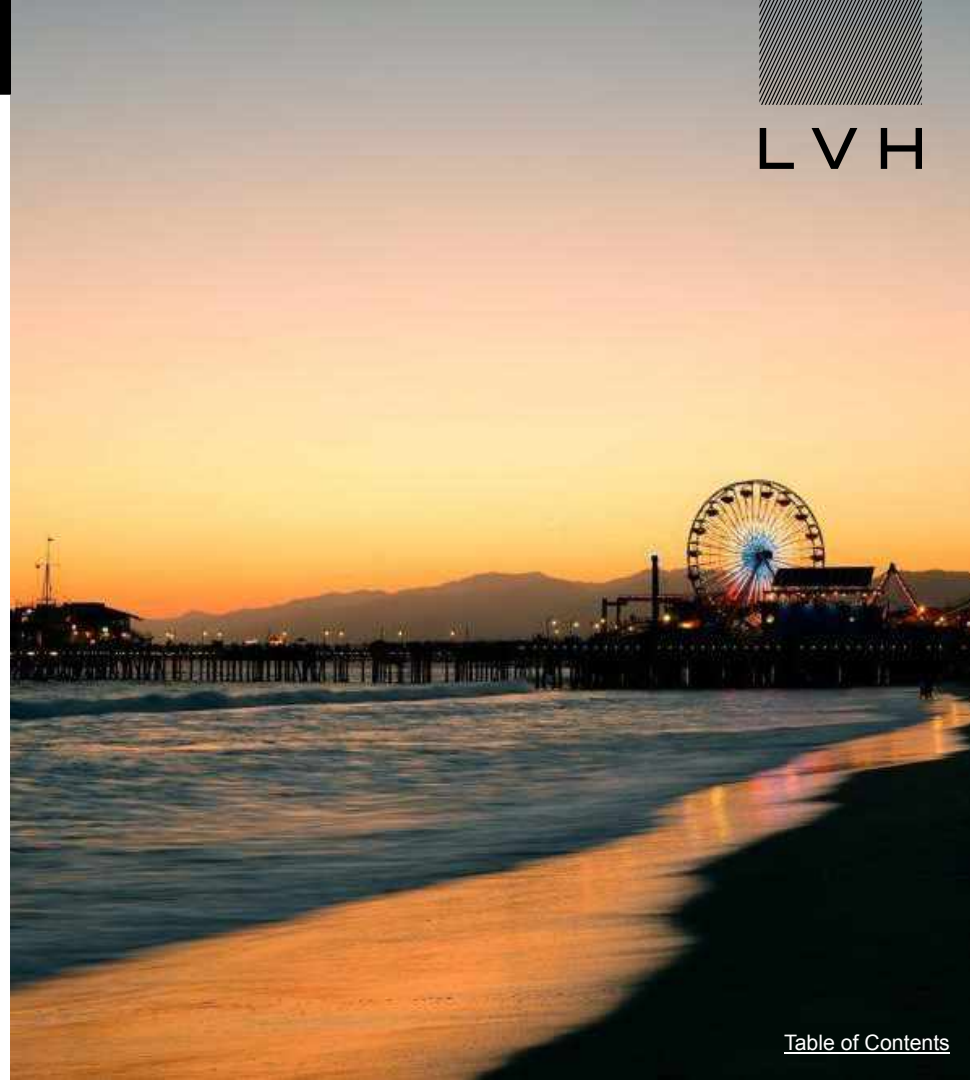

SURFRIDER BEACH

This classic Malibu beach was made famous as the location for the filming of '60s hit TV show Gidget. But you don't have to remember the show to love this beach. It gets crowded, but that's part of the appeal: people-watching central.

SANTA MONICA BEACH

Located just west of downtown Los Angeles, Santa Monica beach is an iconic example of the famed Southern California beaches. With few Los Angeles beach options offering both large expanses of beach, bike trails and nearby activities, Santa Monica Beach has exactly what you're looking for.

VENICE BEACH

One of the most famous and storied beaches on the planet, Venice Beach is dynamic and multidimensional. You can do the classic beach activities here. Notice the bodybuilders pump themselves up at Muscle Beach. Stroll along the iconic street stands and shops that have graced countless movies. Gawk at the many eccentric people who gravitate here. Venice is a must for any visitor to Los Angeles.

DOCKWEILER BEACH

Dockweiler State Beach is a beach in Los Angeles, California, with 3.75 miles of shoreline and a hang gliding practice and training area. Although a unit of the California state park system, it is managed by the Los Angeles County Department of Beaches and Harbors.

EL PORTO BEACH

Located in Manhattan Beach, El Porto is a favorite with local surfers because an underwater canyon generates waves that are bigger than at neighboring beaches. Swimmers who don't like getting pummeled by plus-sized waves should maybe skip this one. Unfortunately, there is also a large Chevron oil refinery and a sewage treatment plant within eyeshot, but El Porto is still a place for quality surfing.

WHALE WATCHING

Watch for whales and dolphins off Newport Beach aboard a double-decker catamaran with bow seating and 360-degree views. A diverse array of marine wildlife thrives in the protected area just outside Newport Bay, and you'll have the chance to see humpbacks, gray, finback and blue whales, seals, and several species of dolphins.

GRUNION RUN

Grunion is a species of fish that leave the water at night to spawn on beaches during the spring and summer months throughout Southern California. The beach then becomes a line of illuminated fishes. The periodic appearance of the grunion on Southern California beaches, and the act of catching them, is locally known as a "grunion run".

KAYAKING ALAMITOS BAY

Enjoy the beautiful scenery of Alamitos Bay by kayaking through the bay's waters. You will get the opportunity to explore nature more intimately and peaceful solitude for yourself.

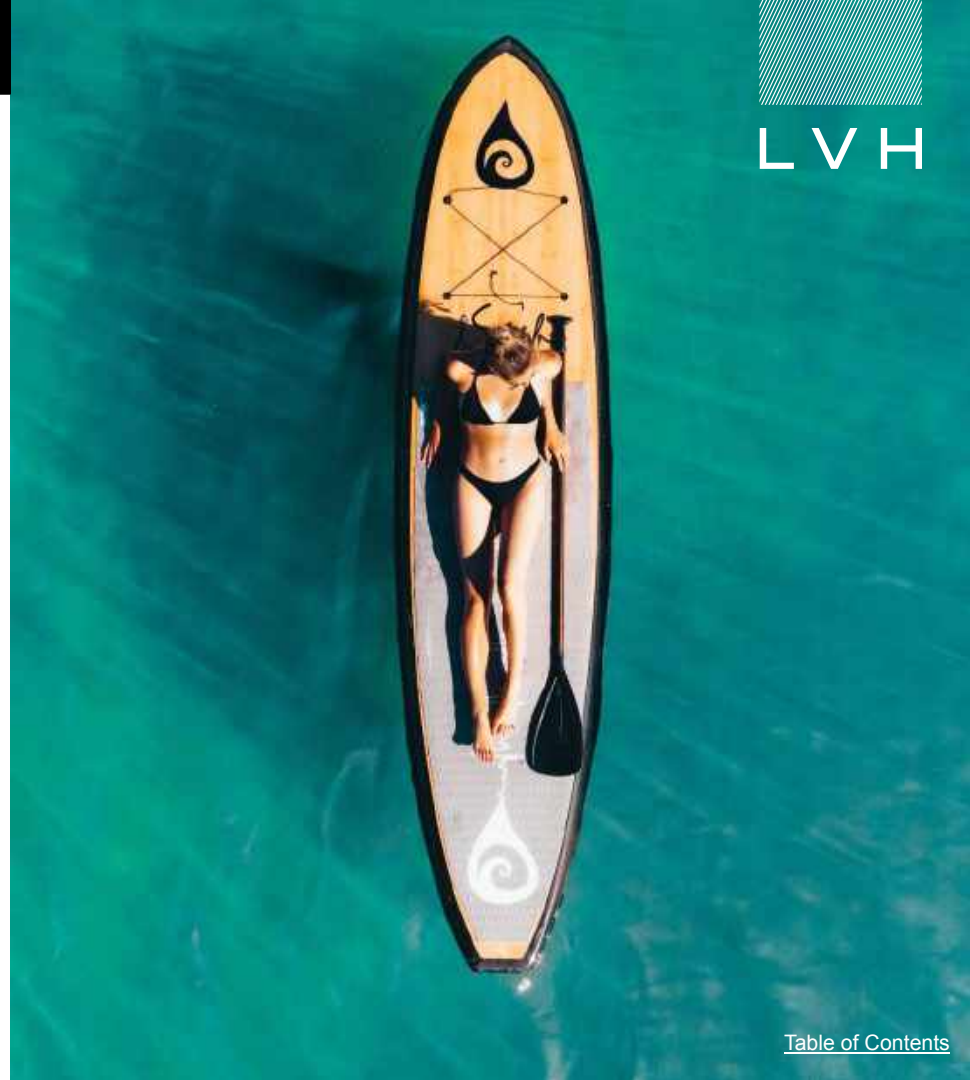

SNORKELING CATALINA ISLAND

South of Los Angeles, 22 miles off of Newport Beach, Catalina Island is one of the most popular places for snorkeling in California. You can access several beach spots or take snorkeling boat tours. This will allow you to explore marine life in California waters.

PADDLE BOARDING MALIBU

Paddleboarding gives you a chance to possibly encounter the dolphins and seals that frequent Malibu beaches with the added bonus of venturing through the sea caves. If you really want to get wet, be sure to snorkel in the kelp forest and encounter a variety of fish, lobster and even a sea urchin or two.

DAY TRIPS

Within an hour's drive from the city gridlock, you may be surprised at the serenity found within proximity to Los Angeles. Within the range of some dreamy coastal locations, get out of the city where the So Cal nostalgia of 50s cars and rockabilly runs strong. Never underestimate the invigoration of a cruise down Highway 1!

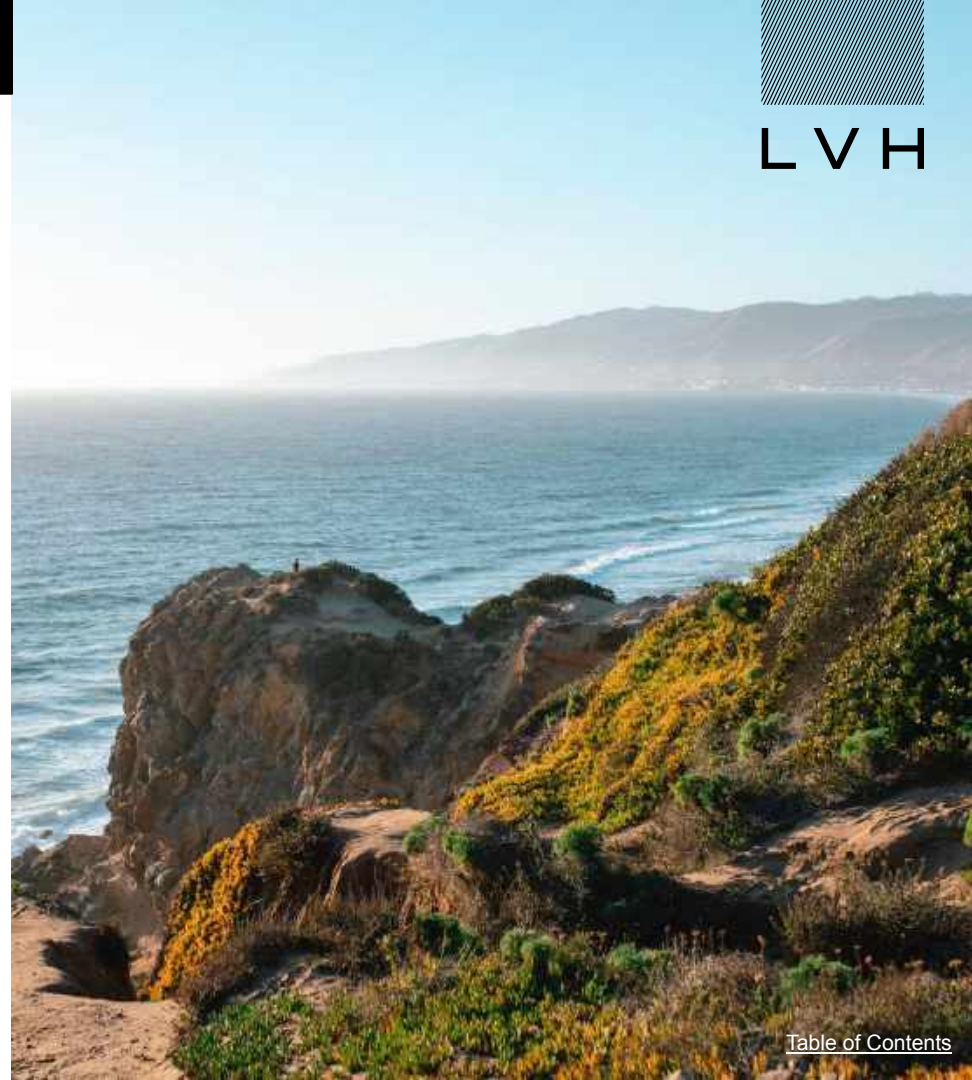

LVH

MALIBU

Stretching for more than 30 miles along the Pacific and Highway One, Malibu has achieved a status among Californian beach towns. Besides the beaches this place is offering amazing venues for dining, shopping, front-row seats for surfing, and unforgettable sunsets. Malibu will be a great destination to relax after exploring The City of Angels.

CATALINA ISLAND

If you are looking for a unique vacation getaway just an hour away from the California mainland, Catalina should be high on your list. There are plenty of things to do on Catalina Island, whether you are looking for thrilling outdoor adventures, a romantic getaway, or a relaxing beach vacation, this will be a great addition when visiting LA.
