ABOUT

LVH

Napa & Sonoma are the twin valleys of California's most famous wine country. Each valley is different and unique. Napa Valley rules as the land of grand estates, expansive tasting rooms, quaint towns, and elegant accommodations. Sonoma County tends to have a more intimate feeling, especially as you head further north toward the Russian River.

Whether you rent a bicycle, take a farm tour, or join a hands-on harvesting camp, experiencing the agriculture of wine can give you a deeper appreciation for it.

The hundreds of wineries in Napa and Sonoma Valleys are responsible for making this region one of the most famous areas in California where you can spend however long you'd like discovering new wineries and enjoying different wine flavors.
