ABOUT

From its dreamy white sand coves, sheer cliffs, and mountainscapes dotted with roaming sheep, Sardinia has become one of Italy's foremost luxury destinations. Here, La Dolce Vita living is particularly potent, with a distinct regional culture adding a novel spin to the Italian tricolor. An untamed hinterland meets the emerald waters of the Tyrrhenian, with dramatic rock formations sculpting countless craggy coves and serene enclaves caressed by frothy seafoam. Scattered pieces of heaven are everywhere – from the jutting cliffs, majestic canyons, mysterious underground caves, endless emerald waters, and lush greenery. Drop anchor along the picturesque coastlines of Costa Smeralda or Golfo di Orosei, or set sail for the epic La Maddalena Islands. Regional eccentricities and a striking culinary and gastronomic tradition will attract Italophiles, while an unmatched coastal playground ensures guests extend their luxury getaways indefinitely. Writer David Herbert (D.H.) Lawrence said: "Sardinia is something different ... lovely space all around, distance to travel, anything of finished, anything of definitive. It's like freedom itself."

- New York City – Sardinia ~ 7 h 50'
- London – Milan – Sardinia ~ 1 h 10'
- Miami – Milan – Sardinia ~ 9 h 50'

Sardinia's majestic coastlines and rugged beauty have inspired some of the world's most revered novelists and bohemians.

D.H. Lawrence famously regarded the island as "something different" and intangible, like "freedom itself." As soon as guests land, you'll immediately identify what the writer was referring to, with the island's vivid colors, intoxicating aromas, and untamed landscapes charged with a feeling of uninhibited adventure and excitement. From the glitzy yacht marinas of Porto Cervo in the north to the bustling terracotta and mauve-hued capital of Cagliari to the south, Sardinia is a world in and unto itself, delivering fantastic regions for those seeking relaxation or thrilling escapades. Between dramatic shores, a romantic heartland, and soaring mountains lies a smattering of bucolic time-forgotten villages that retain the traditions of centuries past. Take a trip back in time or revel in the unadulterated pleasures of an amazing beachfront super home charter. A stunning coastal setting has inspired some of the world's most unique Sardinia luxury vacation villas. A household name amongst the world's most discerning travelers, Sardinia has elegantly grown into its status as a bastion of fine living, dolce vita hedonism, and sophisticated tastes. Here are some of Sardinia's must-visit areas: Alghero, Cagliari, Castelsardo, Capriccioli, Costa Smeralda, Golfo di Marinelli, Oristano, Porto Cervo, Porto Rotondo, Sos Aranzos, and Villasimius.

COSTA SMERALDA

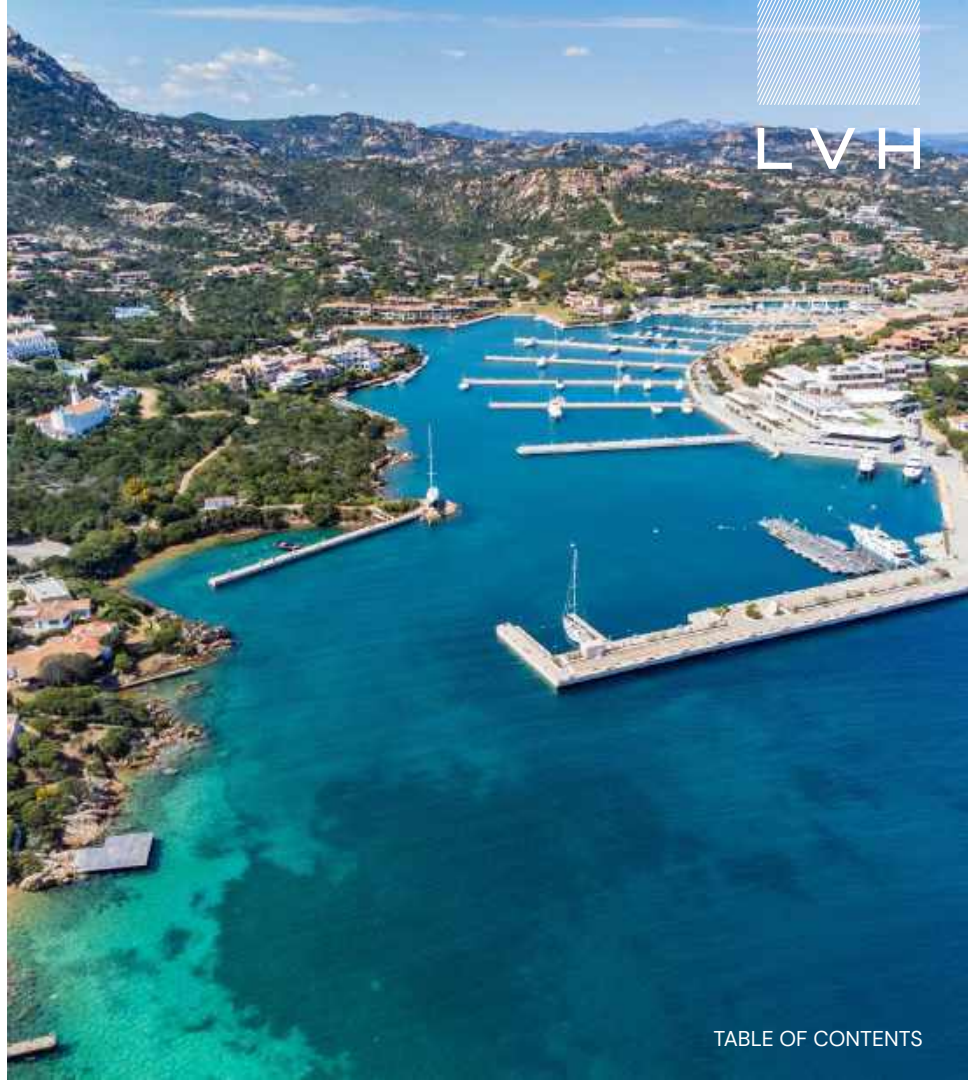

Nestled along the northeastern coast of Sardinia, Costa Smeralda is a world-renowned destination that epitomizes luxury and glamour. This exclusive enclave is known for its pristine white sandy beaches, turquoise waters, and lavish resorts. Its charm lies in the sensational blend of natural landscapes with man-made wonders and sophisticated lifestyles. The region was initially created by a group of wealthy patrons in the 1960s and has since become a top destination for the international jet set. Costa Smeralda offers not only beautiful beaches, but also hidden coves and some of the most stunning coastlines in the world. The region also hosts prestigious events, including the renowned Maxi Yacht Rolex Cup, attracting the world's elite.

AREAS

PORTO CERVO

Situated in the heart of the Costa Smeralda, Porto Cervo is a picturesque seaside village renowned for its captivating architecture, pristine beaches, and unspoiled natural beauty. Encounter an alluring blend of old-world charm and contemporary sophistication. With its intricate network of cobbled streets leading to picturesque squares, the village is a marvel that has captured the hearts of many. The allure of Porto Cervo extends beyond its architecture – the idyllic Mediterranean climate, crystal-clear waters, and stunning landscapes also make it an irresistible destination to explore and seize the seaswept elements. Its prestigious marina is host to the annual Yacht Club Costa Smeralda regattas solidifying Porto Cervo's standing as one of the world's most exclusive beach destinations.

AREAS

CAPRICCIOLI

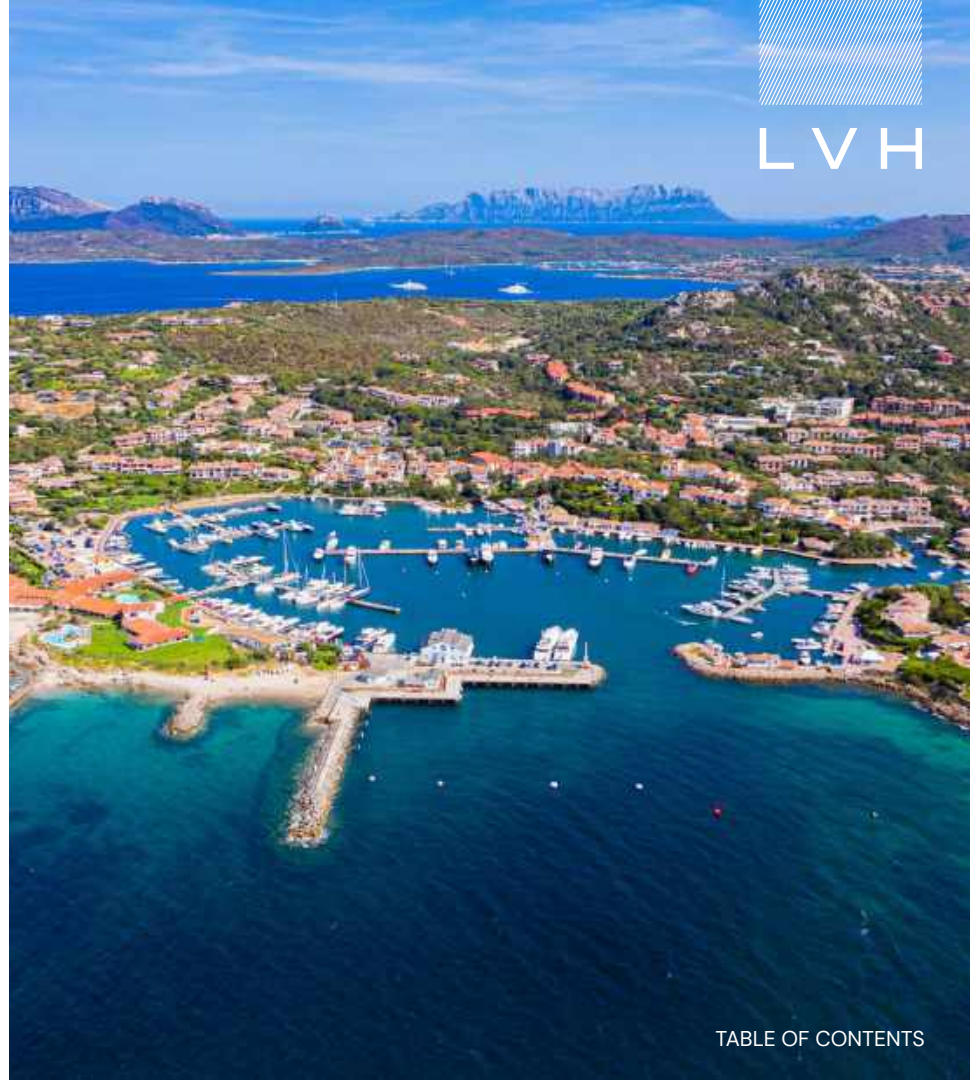

The small beaches of Capriccioli have fine, light sand tinged with grey, washed by the blue sea and protected by yellow, pink and reddish granite rocks. These are surrounded by dense Mediterranean scrub. The eastern shore is sheltered from the northwesterly wind, so it's an ideal place for families with children. Separated by pink granite blocks, the other side of the Capriccioli coastline stretches to the west, and two beaches: 'Il Pirata' (The Pirate) where a small wooden pier makes docking possible. In fact, visitors can rent dinghies, canoes and pedalos. The second beach, 'Delle Tartarughe' (Turtles), is a natural oasis frequented by sea turtles to lay their eggs.

AREAS

PORTO ROTONDO

Porto Rotondo is a district in Olbia between the gulfs of Cugnana and Marinella, with a highly-equipped tourist port with 800 boat moorings. In the summer, there can be as many as 30 thousand inhabitants in the villas, timeshare homes and residences around an initial nucleus of the village built in 1964. The architecture decidedly resembles the structures of Venice. Porto Rotondo is considered to be one of the most “in” places in all of Italy. Tourists are likely to encounter famous personalities, especially in the summer. Well-known figures from the world of high finance and show business choose the area as a summer residence. Exclusive travelers also often choose the area for their private getaways.

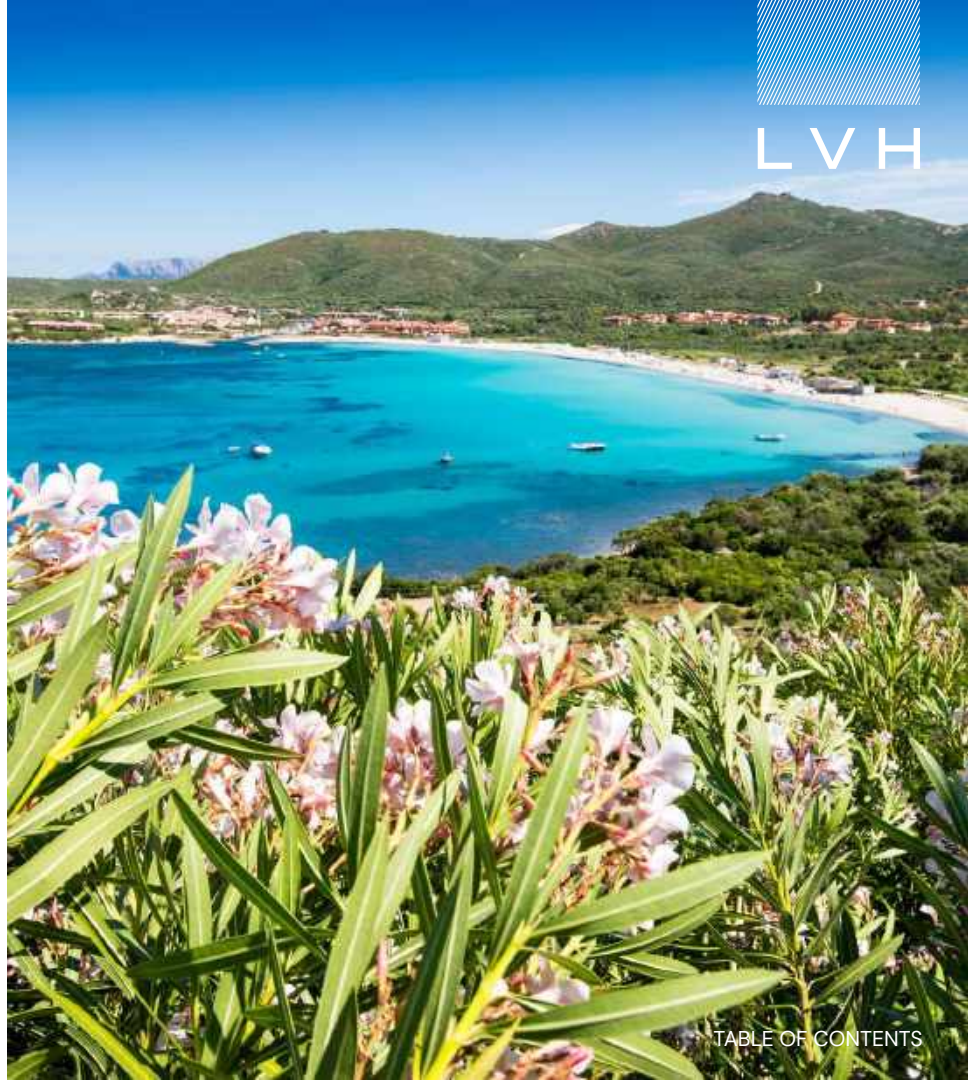

LVH

AREAS

GOLFO DI MARINELLA

Golfo di Marinella, located on the northeastern coast of Sardinia, is a hidden gem that offers a luxurious retreat for discerning travelers. This secluded bay is known for its pristine white sand beaches, crystal-clear turquoise waters, and breathtaking views. The allure of Golfo di Marinella lies in its exclusive resorts and high-end villas that blend seamlessly with the natural surroundings. Luxury travelers can enjoy various upscale amenities, including private beach clubs, gourmet restaurants, and world-class spa facilities. The area's architecture showcases elegant Mediterranean-style villas and exclusive waterfront properties featuring intricate designs and stonework that have stood the test of time. The bay is a beloved cruising area for superyachts seeking deep water and calm currents for their safety and convenience. Golfo di Marinella's tranquil atmosphere, stunning natural beauty, and proximity to popular destinations like Porto Rotondo add to its appeal, making it a sought-after destination for those wanting an indulgent and secluded retreat in Sardinia.

SOS ARANZOS

Sos Aranzos Beach is located in Golfo Aranci. The area offers wonderful views of Capo Figari and the Figarolo Tavolara islands. Sos Aranzos can get very lively during high season. Waters here are shallow, so it is the ideal spot for vacationers with children. Snorkeling and scuba diving are favorite water activities here. There is a small hill visitors can climb to get a gorgeous view of the beach and sea. With its granite cliffs, the area is definitely photo-worthy, as is all of Sardinia.

CASTELSARDO CAPRICOLLI

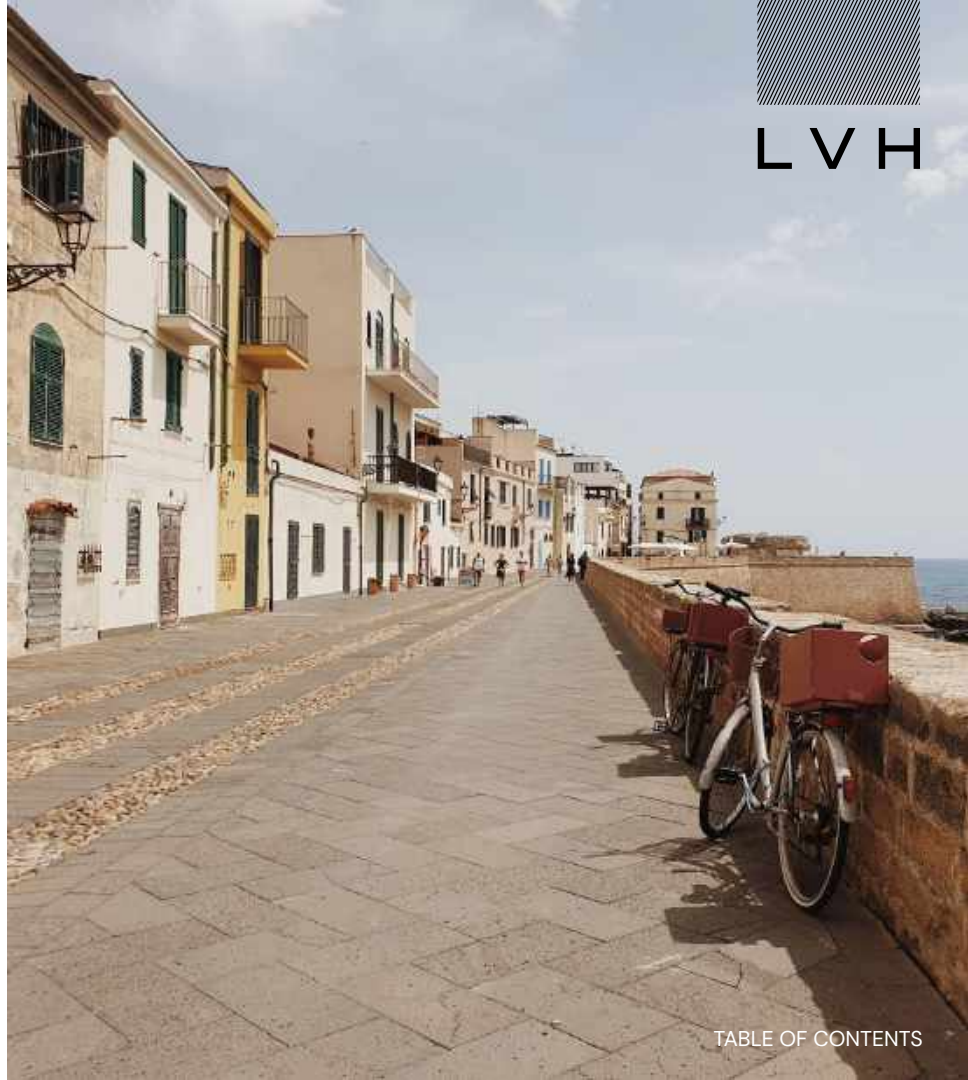

This picturesque coastal town is renowned for its medieval charm and breathtaking architecture. Perched on a hilltop, the town is dominated by the majestic Castelsardo Castle and comprises winding cobbled streets, traditional stone houses, and panoramic views over the saturated azure horizon of the Mediterranean. The magnificent architecture is a fusion of medieval and Baroque styles, making the town an awe-inspiring sight. Visiting the castle, one of the main attractions takes travelers back in time to the 12th century. Numerous museums and galleries display ancient artifacts, showcasing Sardinia's rich cultural heritage. Castelsardo Capricolli oozes an irresistible charm for luxury travelers seeking to unwind in style. The town's alluring ambiance and serene atmosphere make it a haven for those who desire a luxurious retreat in an authentic, centuries-old town.

ALGHERO

Alghero offers an intoxicating blend of history, culture, and stunning coastal beauty. Known for its picturesque Old Town, Alghero offers a dreamy fairytale atmosphere with cobblestone streets, ancient walls, and a unique mix of Gothic and Catalan influences. A wellspring of exquisite dining options, Alghero embodies the blissful pace of the Sardinian good life. Whether it's taking a stroll through the bustling marina or discovering the town's vibrant nightlife, Alghero's allure is undeniable. Interestingly, the town's walls, built initially to protect Alghero from attacks, were later turned into a breathtaking promenade complete with stunning sea views. The city's golden beaches and crystal-clear waters provide opportunities for relaxing sun-soaked days or engaging in water sports activities. With its luxury accommodations, boutique shops, and vibrant nightlife, Alghero is an alluring destination that combines elegance, natural beauty, and cultural charm, promising an unforgettable experience for discerning travelers.

MUSEO DELEDDIANO

This museum is dedicated to the life of Italian novelist Grazia Deledda, winner of the Nobel Prize for Literature in 1926. The building was actually Deledda's family home and birthplace. The writer lived there until her wedding in 1900. The property was sold in 1913 and remained mostly unaltered. It was declared a national heritage building in 1968, eventually becoming a museum that contains a large number of manuscripts, photos, and Deledda's personal belongings. The museum is a window into the past, into society and places experienced by a novelist whose works revealed to the world the culture and feelings of Sardinia and all of Sardinia.

GIOVANNI MARONGIU CIVIC MUSEUM OF CABRAS

The Civic Archaeological Museum of Cabras, named after Giovanni Marongiu, who hailed from Cabras, is a journey from prehistoric times to the Middle Ages through traces of the past discovered on the Sinis peninsula. The area is well-known for the Statues of the Giants dated the 8th century BC, six of which are on display at the museum. Visitors will also learn about the Cabras Lagoon inhabited uninterruptedly between the 5th and 3rd millennium BC. There are artifacts on display from these periods as well as of Tharros, the oldest town on the island founded by the Phoenicians. Another area of the museum is dedicated to a great underwater discovery, the wreck of a Roman ship from the 1st century BC, identified one mile from the island of Mal di Ventre. In the remains of the boat, which lies on the seabed at a depth of nearly 100 feet, a cargo of about 1,000 exceptionally pure lead ingots coming from Spanish mines was found – a unique specimen of the ancient world.

ARTS & CULTURE

NATIONAL ARCHAEOLOGICAL MUSEUM

The Archaeological Museum contains a rich collection of objects and artifacts about the succession of the island's ancient cultures from the pre-nuragic age to the high medieval period. The museum was born in 1800 when Ludovico Baylle asked Viceroy Carlo Felice to create a space for archaeological collections and to preserve the island's natural history samples. The museum now highlights various ages of Sardinian life and contains samples from all over the island such as traditional pottery and fine craftsmanship objects like the famous Phoenician necklace in faïence (glass) made of large pearls.

MUSEO DEL CARBONE

Museo del Carbone, or Coal Museum, takes visitors back to a time when coal was mined in Serbariu, a district of Carbonia, from 1937 to 1971. Workers from all over Italy were recruited to extract coal: 16.000 miners resided in Carbonia, which was built in 1938 to accommodate them. After recovery work, it became the Coal Museum and reopened to the public in 2006. The restructured complex, which perfectly represents the world of mining, leads visitors through life during those years. In the lamp room, guests will get a glimpse of mining history and of the town through a collection of mining lamps, work tools, objects used in everyday life, photographs, documents, films from the period, and video interviews. The passage through the underground tunnel is interesting, as it shows the evolution of coal mining techniques from 1930 to 1971, the year in which mining activity ceased.

SCENIC DRIVE ALONG THE SP71 ROAD

The panoramic road SP71 between Chia and Teulada is in the south-west of Sardinia and it's 16 miles of absolute beauty. There are many coves, white sandy beaches, and crystal clear water. The road is a series of ups and downs with stretches that almost literally touch the sea. It is impossible not to stop along the way. Travelers will find some of the most beautiful southern beaches along this scenic drive in Sardinia. Unique places such as Tuerredda, Piscinnì beach, and numerous coves. The view of the sea follows the whole itinerary. Walking it in the low season in the months of September and October allows you to enjoy it to the fullest. You can't miss a swim in these splendid clear waters.

CAPO TESTA

Capo Testa is popular for its breathtaking views and unique hiking terrain. Atop this glorious holiday destination, visitors have a clear view of a collection of bizarre rock formations and even the infamous cliffs of Bocche di Bonifacio. It is a beautiful place to walk around, and the absolute perfection of the most dramatic scenery of Sardinia remains through spring and winter. Although there are few remnants of Roman times, the rugged rock formations and shoreline are a mystifying sight firmly placing Capo Testa on the tourist map. This was once a small mining town where the Romans extracted enormous amounts of granite to be used to construct their beloved city of Rome.

The archaeological site "Su Nuraxi" (Sardinian term for "The Nuraghe") lies at the foot of the Parco della Giara, near Barumini. Nuraghes are the main type of megalithic edifice found in Sardinia, and the use of these beehive-like buildings still remains unknown. Most archaeologists assume they were used as religious temples, meeting halls, or military strongholds. Built somewhere around the 12th century BC, Su Nuraxi is located along the road that leads from Barumini to Tuili. It was declared World Heritage by UNESCO in 1997, and it is certainly the most important monument of the old civilization in Sardinia. The area is open to visitors who can see the fortress, while passing in narrow tunnels, which were carved from the walls. The oldest part of Su Nuraxi, the truncated conical central tower, was originally more than 19 meters high.

Along the journey, families can also discover charming villages and ancient ruins, further enhancing their cultural immersion. With quality equestrian facilities and well-trained four-legged friends, a family horseback riding trip in Sardinia promises an unforgettable and bonding experience amidst the island's enchanting scenery.

COOKING CLASSES

Share precious moments with loved ones with interactive cooking classes suitable for the whole family. A fantastic way to explore the island's rich culinary heritage, let expert chefs curate fun and interactive activities preparing some of your favorite Sardinian dishes. From handmade pasta to flavorful seafood specialties, families can learn age-old cooking techniques and secret family recipes passed down through generations. Engaging in these interactive classes allows children and adults alike to connect with the island's culture, flavors, and traditions. The intimate setting of luxury cooking schools provides a personalized experience, ensuring each family member can actively participate, develop culinary skills and spark lifelong passions.

A VISIT TO SARDEGNA IN MINIATURA

Sardinia in Miniature, also known as Sardegnain Miniatura, is a unique park located in the commune of Barumini near the Su Nuraxi complex. This park offers a fascinating experience where you can explore the attractions of Sardinia in miniature form. One of the highlights of the park is the tropical garden called "Biosphere," which houses exotic animals and serves as the central point of the park. Additionally, there is an observation deck that provides panoramic views of the miniature replicas of the most interesting places in Sardinia. For space enthusiasts, the park features a Planetarium that showcases big-screen shows about the birth of the universe and the evolution of the solar system. A must-see exhibition in the park is the replica of the famous scientist Charles Darwin's ship, the "Beagle," which spans an impressive 27 meters. Additionally, the Museum of Astronomy within the park offers a chance to explore the reconstructed surfaces of the Moon and Mars, view meteorites, and even see space suits. It is truly a remarkable destination for those seeking a blend of nature, science, and culture.
